The tuberculosis Christmas seal sale is in progress. It might be stated and with truth that no nation is stronger than the health of its people. Your purchase of Christmas seals is for the purpose of strengthening the nation's health, inasmuch as the money goes to fight tuberculosis. Do not just buy seals. Use them on your Christmas packages and letters. They arouse others to the purpose of the campaign. Your investment may save a child's life. Some others making the same investment may save your child's life. Let us light the candle of happiness in every home by furnishing the weapons to fight tuberculosis. When your envelope comes with the seals inside of it, keep the seals and send your dollar—or more—to the headquarters so your contribution can be put to work.

I've been trying to locate the author of "Out Where the Vest Begins," and it occurred to me that the projection operator at the West Coast might be of some assistance. Thought he might be a relative.

Out to "Bud" Levin's boxing party few nights ago. The participants mostly young fellows with ambitions. It seemed to be a sort of a sliding scale program with the sizes becoming smaller as the bouts proceeded, and it penetrated through my ivory that they were getting down to my size, so I left before some one offered me the gloves.

And then there was the fellow who raffled off a turkey and I held the wrong number. To add insult to misfortune the fellow who won it forgot to ask me to dinner. So what?

Most growers of citrus are not so much worried about frost as they are about rain, at least this season. Rain relieves the grower of additional expense. And which lowers the cost of maintenance is most welcome this season.

Watched a fem cross the street in the middle of the block. Cars rushing by and I noticed to me what chances I often take trying to beat time. The prospect of an item suggested itself to me, so when no accident occurred I found out that my worries were useless, as most worries are, and there wasn't even an item in the incident.

And then Officer Cornish Roehm officiated in a dual capacity. He was also a Boy Scout and was doing his good deed to a lost Mexican lad who was sobbing quite vociferously because he had become detached from his brothers. But Cornish wasn't able to get his rescued lad to the station before a bunch of racing brothers identified the officer's charge, the release was quickly made, and everybody will live happily until the boy gets lost again.

Well, the orange controversy has at last reached the radio stage. The more the issue is discussed the more the grower will find out what he did not previously know, and the quicker he finds out the better for him. Complacency is no cure for the industry's ills.

That season of the year is approaching when the heart sort of mellow to the Christmas spirit. Group of little kiddies calling for discarded dolls. Wanted to dress 'em all up again so they would have on party clothes and formal and get an invitation into some home where they would again become a member of the family. If you have a doll which has lost the childish affection find it and give it to the young folks who want to get a new and welcome home for it.

To those housewives who think at certain times of the year housecleaning is necessary whether it is or not, the time, the place and the season should be considered. Wind

East Hard Hit By Storm

By the Associated Press
Snowplows and shovel brigades mopped up in cities and rural communities across the nation today in the wake of the worst Thanksgiving day storm in many years. Incomplete reports showed nearly two score storm fatalities, with shipping and air transportation partially paralyzed along the Atlantic coast and elsewhere. Trains and buses ran behind schedule.

Automobile clubs received thousands of calls from drivers needing help as their cars were marooned in heavy snowdrifts and incapacitated by freezing temperatures.

FAMILY BURNED TO DEATH
The worst single tragedy growing out of the storm was reported at Amsterdam, N. Y., where a 27-year-old mother and her five small children, huddled around an oil stove for warmth, were burned to death when the stove exploded.

Breakdowns or delays in air, land and coastal shipping traffic marred the holiday by preventing untold numbers of scheduled family reunions.

Swift-freezing sleet resulted in hundreds of highway accidents and slowed traffic to a snail's pace.

Washington, D. C., recorded seven inches of snow in 24 hours more than fell throughout last winter.

THUNDER AND SNOW
Eight inches of snow blanketed metropolitan New York following a freak thunder and lightning storm, almost without precedent in cold weather.

Weather bureau officials said it was the city's worst November snowstorm in 40 years.

A 3 a. m., the temperature sank to 17.5 degrees, a new low for the date.

Weather forecasts on the Atlantic coast generally called for fair and continued cold tonight with slowly rising temperatures over the week-end.

Pope Pius, who suffered a heart attack this morning and collapsed, but was revived by the administration of oxygen.

Oxygen Administered After Church Leader Collapses

LONDON. (AP)—An exchange telegraph (British News agency) dispatch from Rome today said that Pope Pius had suffered a second stroke at 5:50 p. m. following his heart attack this morning.

The dispatch said the holy father was unconscious for about 15 minutes.

VATICAN CITY. (AP)—Pope Pius is suffering a serious heart attack this morning and oxygen was administered immediately after his collapse to overcome a difficulty in breathing.

This treatment was suspended, however, after the difficulty had been remedied and the Vatican announced officially that the holy

REVOLT NIPPED IN BOLIVIA

LA PAZ. (AP)—The government today proclaimed a state of siege—a form of martial law—throughout Bolivia and at the same time announced suppression of a rebellion and capture of a number of rebels.

A statement by the security police said a party of conspirators made an incursion early today into the barracks of a Carabinieri regiment in La Paz and tried to induce the soldiers, with promises of large sums of money, to join a revolutionary movement.

The soldiers remained loyal, said the statement, and their officers seized some of the conspirators. Others who had been waiting outside the barracks were said to have fled.

Foreign Boycott Causes Nazis to Order Halt In Attacks on Jews

BERLIN. (AP)—A new order by Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering banning further street action against Jews was interpreted today to indicate that foreign boycotts were having a telling effect on Germany's foreign trade.

Chancellor Hitler's chief troubleshooter told 36 Nazi district leaders last night that the time for extra-legal action against Jews was past and that he would hold them responsible for any new outbreaks.

Sources close to Goering said his order undoubtedly was in the interest of foreign trade, upon which the Nov. 10 shop wrecking by angry crowds had a boomerang effect.

Goering was said to have told

British, Chinese Breaking

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was said by Chinese sources today to have expressed dissatisfaction to the British ambassador over Great Britain's Far Eastern policies, and to have hinted strongly that the time for a showdown had arrived.

This was disclosed as the British ambassador, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, returned to Shanghai from a conference with Chiang "somewhere in Hunan" province. Informed quarters said the conference might be the turning point in the Anglo-Chinese relations.

Sir Archibald declined to discuss his talks with the generalissimo other than to say Chiang was "well, fit and optimistic."

Chinese sources said, however, that Chiang told the ambassador Britain had failed to carry on the traditional Anglo-Chinese relationship.

He was said to have told Sir Archibald that unless British policies were changed, and aid was forthcoming, China would be forced to turn elsewhere. In that event, Chiang was reported to have said, Britain's dominance in China would fade away, and the power that provides the needed help would become the paramount influence in Chinese foreign affairs.

The Kuomintang is scheduled to open an important session at Chungking, temporary capital, early in December to determine China's foreign policy for the future. Chiang was said to have urged Britain to provide assurances of positive assistance.

Britain thus was placed on the horns of a dilemma, since Japan frequently has asserted that Britain must change her Far Eastern policies to meet Japanese approval before peace and understanding can be achieved in the Orient.

French and American relations with China were understood to be slated for a similar frank review in conversations Chiang expects to hold in the near future with ambassadors of the two countries.

HARRIS JURORS CAN'T AGREE

Divided evenly in three ways on guilt or innocence of Theo J. Harris, young Los Angeles promoter, a superior court jury which heard a grand theft case against Harris was discharged late Wednesday.

Harris will be tried again on a charge of bilking Edison G. Maier, West Orange rancher, out of $350 on an oil lease deal concerning property in Chavez county, New Mexico. Date for the new trial will be set later.

The jury reportedly was divided four for acquittal, four for conviction of petty theft and four for conviction of grand theft when it found itself hopelessly deadlocked at 11:55 p. m. Superior Judge G. K. Scovel had sent the case to the jury at 3:50 p. m.

Champion Steer Brings 86c Pound

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Verl Anderson's 780-pound grand champion steer of the Great Western Livestock show was sold at auction today for 86 cents a pound.

The Tremonton, Utah, Lad's steer was purchased by a railroad dining car operator. Today's auction ended the show.

The reserve grand champion steer sold for 20 cents a pound to Herbert Chandler of Baker, Ore. It was owned by Mount Crest ranch of Hilt, Calif.

Two Forest Fires Believed Checked

The front of the forest fire that swept out of the Santa Monica mountains to the Pacific Coast shore north of Santa Monica is shown as it advanced dangerously close to a group of costly hillside homes.

Buildings along the Roosevelt highway bordering the Pacific shoreline north of Santa Monica are shown going up in flames from the forest fire that swept down from the mountains to the water's edge. This picture was made before night fell, but the thick smoke made the scene almost as black as night.

Crestline Believed Safe, But Many Cabins Are Lost

LOS ANGELES. AP—Fire fighters in the San Bernardino and Santa Monica mountains appeared to have gained the upper hand again today in their bitter battle against devastating brush and timber fires which had threatened to run out of hand in the early morning hours.

Although evacuation of women and children from Crestline in the San Bernardino national forest continued, the fire dispatcher's office there reported the flames have been diverted, for the present at least, from that mountain settlement.

The fatigued fighters in the Topanga district of the Santa Monica mountains also expressed hope that the new flareup in Mandeville canyon could be held off from the palatial Brentwood district in suburban Los Angeles.

More than a thousand men were deployed through Devil and City Creek canyons, eight miles apart, in the struggle for supremacy over the flames in the San Bernardino mountains.

The Devil canyon fire, which jumped a high gear state highway this morning, was burning on two sides of Crestline—2½ miles west and one mile on the east.

Forestry officials admitted it depended entirely on the capricious winds whether their present defense of the settlement of 4000 cabins, residences, stores and hotels will be successful. In the City Creek region a backfire was started this morning to save a CCC camp from destruction.

It was just such a backfire that got away from fire fighters in Mandeville canyon this morning, whipped into the faces of the workers by a sudden shift in the wind.

VISIBILITY 50 FEET
This fresh blaze was high in the canyon, at least three miles from the palatial homes of many motion picture celebrities, including Joan Crawford, Shirley Temple and Pat O'Brien.

Several residents, including Mrs. John Hay Whitney, noted sports-woman, moved out however, as fine ashes started drifting down over the entire area.

Walter Schultz, who led the first party out of Crestline area, said the visibility there was less than fifty feet. More than a hundred (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

M'KELVEY TO ASK WRIT IN LEAFLET CASE

Two legal maneuvers designed to put an end to the "Fools Rush In" criminal conspiracy case before it can reach the trial stage were started today by defense attorneys in superior court.

G. F. McKelvey, suspended deputy sheriff under felony charges in the pamphlet case, prepared to ask a writ of habeas corpus on grounds he was illegally committed from justice court. Eddie Taylor, distributing agency employee, will join with McKelvey in the application.

Robert Elliott, Los Angeles printer whose firm produced the defamatory pre-election pamphlet, attempted to prevent Asst. Dist. A. T. Preston Turner from filing the information in superior court; and failing in this will resist attempts to arraign him later.

The new set of legal fireworks began this morning when Turner filed the information against the three defendants in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

H. N. Ellis, attorney for Elliott, asked the court to deny permission to file the information—but Judge Allen ruled that he would permit the information to be filed, and Ellis may object to arraignment of his client.

McKelvey, who defended himself through a record-length preliminary hearing before Justice Chris Fann of Huntington Beach in local justice court, appeared today with two attorneys, Sam L. Collins and Harold McCabe of Fullerton.

Collins told the court that McKelvey's bondsman, A. Burkett, Huntington Beach oil man, had surrendered the suspended deputy to the court—thus placing him in custody and putting him in a position to ask for a habeas corpus writ.

Collins said he might file the habeas corpus today, but possibly would have McKelvey released on a new bond pending completion of the preliminary hearing transcript.

Court Reporter L. W. Slaback, who took testimony in the 12-day preliminary examination, said he was about half through transcribing his notes, and said the transcript already contained 600 pages. Indications were the transcript would exceed 1000 pages in length. Judge Allen said the transcript should have been completed within the 10 days allowed by law after the hearing ends.

Britain, France Warn Poles Not to Invade Czechoslovakia

12 DIVISIONS MASSSED ALONG RUTHENIA LINE

PARIS, (AP)—The premiers of Great Britain and France warned Poland today against invading Czechoslovakia's eastern territory. Alarmed by reports from their ambassadors in Warsaw and Prague, Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Daladier instructed their Warsaw representatives to caution the Polish government against the "danger of such action."

France and Britain, along with Germany and Italy, agreed in the Munich pact to guarantee the new frontiers of Czechoslovakia.

The statesmen, who last night concluded a virtual overnight Anglo-French military alliance, were informed that Poland had massed twelve divisions of troops along the frontier of Ruthenia and that Czechoslovakia was sending heavy reinforcements to the eastern provinces.

If the tension continued, informed quarters said, Chamberlain and Daladier were agreed it might be necessary to call an immediate conference of the "Munich big four"—Chancellor Hitler, Premier Mussolini and moves to prevent Polish occupation of Ruthenia, which would give Poland a common frontier with Hungary, it was said France and Britain would back up Hitler.

Chamberlain and Daladier, accompanied by French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet and British Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, arranged for a final few minutes' talk this morning before the departure of the British statesmen for London. Chamberlain and Halifax then left by train at 10:30 a. m.

Their decision to form the defense forces of the two countries into a coordinated system was widely hailed by the French cabinet ministers, who repeated the declarations of Chamberlain and Daladier that Britain and France would seek peace with Germany and Italy, but "just to be sure" they would arm to the teeth.

The new Anglo-French agreement was said to provide that: 1—Britain, abandoning tradition, will train a large expeditionary army to help French forces in wartime.

2—Production of all war supplies will be coordinated. 3—France will purchase 6000 bombing planes, many of which probably will be built in Canada, with payment assured British loans to France.

4—Army, navy and air force general staffs of the two countries will be in permanent consultation. 5—A common policy of buying and giving credit will be followed by the two countries in their dealings with central European nations to enable them to keep out of Germany's sphere of influence.

Task of reducing WPA rolls in Orange county, in accordance with instructions from Washington, began here this afternoon as 158 workers on garden projects were laid off and certified to SRA for direct relief.

Additional lay-offs are expected to follow throughout next week, with an estimated 75 to be dismissed Monday from the Women's and Professional division.

Colonel Donald Connolly, administrator for Southern California explained that only the least employable are being separated from the WPA. The shirkers, the least efficient, and those showing the least need of relief will be laid off, in addition to unskilled class "B" workers, he said.

Approximately 5000 men and women throughout Southern California are affected by the order from Washington headquarters. Available funds are insufficient to continue employment until March 1 for the full number now on the rolls, it was said.

The lay-offs will be until March 1 when additional appropriations may be made and new quotas established.

Total number which will be dismissed in Orange county in all divisions could not be determined, according to word from officials at Los Angeles today.

Local officials said those being dismissed are being certified to the SRA for direct relief.

More About Forest Fires

"EXTREMELY SERIOUS" Charles M. Plummer, chief dispatcher for the United States Forest service, said the situation was "extremely serious."

"We have reports that the fire is in the settlements of Horse Shoe Bend and Valley View," Plummer said. "We have stationed men throughout the Crest forest district to assist in evacuation if that becomes necessary."

"Fincrest is in the center of a recreational area visited annually by nearly 2,000,000 persons, stretching for five miles across the crest of the San Bernardino range overlooking the valley."

Plummer reported that the fire was moving westward. Between Fincrest and Crestline, three miles away, the twisting mountain road lined with cabins and residences. Four thousand cabins are in the Crest forest district.

Two hundred CCC youths, in charge of supervisors and rangers flown to San Bernardino from all parts of the state, were rushed into the endangered district to augment crews already totalling more than 500. Several regional officials, who flew south from San Francisco, were on the fire line.

HIGHWAYS CLOSED All that could be spared from other sectors of the blaze which already has destroyed the $750,000 Arrowhead Springs hotel, were in the area, Plummer said, adding that the present direction of the wind was carrying the flames away from Lake Arrowhead and other resorts to the east.

The two main highways leading up from the valley were ordered closed and only entrance to the area was by a circuitous route through the Mojave desert on the north side of the range.

The latest break in Southern California's most serious forest fire situation in years came at a time when thousands of exhausted fighters apparently were nearing success in their efforts to control blazes, but "just to be sure" they would arm to the teeth.

The new Anglo-French agreement was said to provide that: 1—Britain, abandoning tradition, will train a large expeditionary army to help French forces in wartime.

2—Production of all war supplies will be coordinated. 3—France will purchase 6000 bombing planes, many of which probably will be built in Canada, with payment assured British loans to France.

POPE SUFFERS TWO ATTACKS; OXYGEN GIVEN

On leaving the pope's bedside Milani said that the pontiff was "slightly better" and had been able to swallow some broth.

"I am optimistic," Milani said, "but all depends on the resistance of the holy father's heart." He added that another heart attack like that of this morning might be fatal.

The doctor went to an apartment near that of the pope and prepared to spend the night at the Vatican.

Cardinals and prelates, including George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, who were to have been received in audience were informed of his illness when they arrived at the Vatican.

Cardinal Mundelein later left by automobile for Naples, intending to sail for the United States tomorrow on the Conte Di Savoia. This was taken to indicate that the pope's condition was not considered cause for immediate alarm.

News of the attack spread rapidly. Cardinals in Rome and members of the diplomatic corps at the holy see immediately began calling at the Vatican to inquire about the holy father's condition and express wishes for his speedy recovery.

The pontiff collapsed and sank to the floor when he was stricken, but members of his household said he remained conscious. As soon as he was in bed Dr. Filippo Roccchi gave him an injection of adrenalin and digitalis.

A Vatican medical bulletin issued at noon said: "The holy father after celebrating holy mass this morning was stricken suddenly with an attack of cardiac asthma. He now is improving."

Previously a Vatican news agency had reported that Pope Pius had been compelled to leave his bed and cancel his audiences after suffering an attack of dizziness.

The news service said the 81-year-old pontiff was afflicted as he was descending from his apartment to his customary private audiences with heads of church administrative bodies.

Accidents, rather than disease, are the principal causes of death for persons from 5 to 19 years of age.

Testimony Wednesday afternoon was given by Mrs. Naomi Cox of Oklahoma City, sister of the accused, who said her brother was nervous and morose when a baby was born to his wife only three months after he was released from the penitentiary. Defense Counsel N. D. Meyer has said he would present evidence that Calhoun was told Dillinger was father of the baby.

DESTRUCTION OF TREES HELD HEAVIEST LOSS DUE TO BLAZE Fire raging in the Topanga district in the Santa Monica mountains is causing millions of dollars of property damage, but the worst effects of the tremendous blaze will be felt in the future.

That is the prediction of Rodney Bacon, Orange county manager of the Southern California Edison company, who returned from an inspection of the district yesterday.

While the burning of a vast expanse of trees and brush, the district is losing its protection against flood waters, which Bacon believes will be the greatest problem resulting from the catastrophe.

"Those destroyed homes can be rebuilt. Our company's lines and transformers can be replaced."

L. A. Court Errs In Death Sentence

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb ruled today that two Los Angeles prisoners sentenced to die at Folsom prison must be resented to San Quentin prison, where the new lethal gas chamber is located, because no more executions would be held at Folsom.

The condemned men are Lyle Woolcomes and Joseph Albert Liscie, who were sentenced in Los Angeles by Superior Judge Charles W. Frick.

Albert H. Hunt, clerk of Folsom, asked the attorney general how the prisoners would be removed to San Quentin.

Webb said Hunt would have to obtain an order from the Los Angeles court refixing the place of execution.

Socialist Party Demands Resignation of Premier Daladier

MORE TROOPS CALLED OUT TO CURB STRIKES

PARIS. (AP)—The Socialist party, most powerful in the French chamber of deputies, decided today to demand Premier Daladier's resignation amid spreading agitation against the government.

The decision was taken by party leaders just after Daladier summoned additional mobile guards and gendarmes to curb a wave of strikes involving 100,000 workers protesting against the premier's suspension of the 40-hour week and other decrees.

The Socialist chiefs conferred under the leadership of former Premier Leon Blum and afterward met with left-wing Radical Socialists forming a dissident group of Daladier's own party.

They were understood to be attempting to form a new chamber majority.

Socialists also approached leaders of the Socialist Republican union whose approval of the anti-Daladier drive might bring the resignation of two cabinet ministers who are members of that party—Public Works Minister Anatole de Monzie and Labor Minister Charles Pomaret.

Police announced all factories in the Paris region occupied by the strikers had been cleared. These included the Renault automobile plants, where a clash occurred last night between workers and mobile guards.

Most factory units subsequently were cleared and the remainder of the strikers yielded their positions this morning. The Renault management posted notices that the plants would shut down indefinitely.

The executive committee of the General Confederation of Labor met behind closed doors at nightfall to prepare a series of mass meetings in protest against the government tomorrow and to fix a date, probably next Tuesday, for a 24-hour general strike as a gesture of protest against the premier's program.

Daladier had ordered 30,000 mobile guards and 20,000 gendarmes concentrated in the strike center about Paris and in the north.

Parliamentary deputies said Daladier was determined to crush the movement and was planning to decree a state of siege, similar to martial law, unless the strikes were mastered quickly.

Some deputies said they understood Daladier even considered the arrest of Leon Blum, Leon Jouhaux, General Federation of Labor secretary, and Maurice Thorez, Communist secretary, along with dissolution of the Communist and Socialist parties.

Blum, through his newspaper, Le Populaire, warned that France faced a "real social battle whose consequences none can longer foresee."

Mobile guards with loaded carbines guarded railway stations and power plants in the north.

Authorities said 40 policemen and police officers were wounded in last night's battle at the main Renault plant in Paris, the first clash of the strike wave.

Continued arrests of strikers and demonstrations brought the total jailed in the Paris region since yesterday to 290. All were accused of resisting officers of the law.

MEEHAN TELLS DRIVER'S DUTY AFTER MISHAP

By CAPT. H. C. MEEHAN

It has been called to the attention of this department that many motorists are laboring under false delusions as to what the law requires, or might we say, allows, them to do under certain conditions when there has been a serious accident.

Recently, in this county, a motorist, whose car had been hit by another motor vehicle and two persons badly injured, refused to allow any of those present to touch or administer first aid to the injured, stating it was a violation of the law to do so.

Nothing could be further from the requirements of the law. Section 480 of the California Vehicle Code makes it a felony if a person involved in an accident where someone is either injured or killed fails to stop and render aid. Section 482 states "the driver of any vehicle involved in an accident that results in injury or death of any person shall give his name, address, the registration number of his vehicle, the name of the owner and shall, upon request, exhibit his operator's or chauffeur's license to the person struck or the driver or occupants of the vehicle collided with, and shall render to any person injured or death of any person involved in such accident reasonable assistance, including the carrying or the making arrangements for the carrying of such injured person or persons to a physician, hospital or first aid station for medical or surgical treatment if it is apparent that such treatment is necessary or if such carrying is requested by the injured person or persons."

The foregoing is what you are compelled to do by law in the event you are involved in such type of an accident. If you arrive at the scene of an accident where someone has been injured, it is your duty to see that aid is given to the injured in so far as it is possible to do. Many times the assistance given the injured is the very means of saving a life. Many times a person is badly cut as the result of an accident and bleeding badly from a lacerated artery. Such a person will bleed to death in a very few minutes unless the bleeding is not stopped.

Does it sound reasonable that it would be a violation of the law to render assistance?

In the event that a person is dead and lying on the highway as the result of an accident, then the body must remain until the coroner arrives or until the coroner has given permission to remove the same from the scene of the accident. If there is any chance to save a life, render any assistance possible and you are in no way violating the law.

It is also well to remember that crowding the highway at the scene of an accident may result in another accident. If the injured are being taken care of do not stop as you may be the cause of another accident. Your cooperation in these matters will be greatly appreciated.

Police News

Charles Rennie, 18, 615 Wellington, was arrested by Santa Ana police yesterday on a bench warrant charging reckless driving. He will appear before City Judge J. G. Mitchell Monday.

Willard Jaggers, 23, Anaheim, was arrested on drunk driving charges after his car assertedly hit a parked automobile, then careened into two palm trees. It was reported today by Santa Ana police. The parked car belonged to Rex E. Parks.

Richard Dewart, 108 Church street, was arrested by Santa Ana police for the Los Angeles sheriff's office yesterday in connection with an accident near Santa Fe Springs. Los Angeles officers said he was wanted on hit-run charges, but Dewart told local police he had stopped after the accident to see if anyone was injured. Dewart told police a car driven by a woman had merely locked bumpers with his machine, and that she said she was not injured.

Two boys who admitted shooting out several windows at the Edison school will report regularly to the Santa Ana police department for the next three weeks. The air rifle will be "put away" by the parents.

A Townsend meeting will be held in the Roosevelt school on East First street at 7:30 this evening. The location is in the 300 block. Members of clubs Nos. 1 and 7 use this school as a meeting place. Israel Santee is president of club No. 1, and George W. Leunburg of club No. 7.

T. D. Knights will preside over the Santa Ana club No. 10 meeting which is being held at 7:30 tonight in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. Mrs. Edith L. Paul, president, will be unable to be present.

Mrs. Ada F. Thompson, 1732 West Seabreeze street, Santa Ana, writes this column enclosing a newspaper clipping which had been mailed her by a friend in Jacksonville, Fla. The enclosure was a column written from Massachusetts, by the well known statistician, Roger W. Babson.

The column was written previous to the recent election and in general was a lambasting of all kinds of idealistic old age security programs which have objectives including the giving of annuities to elderly people who are not in absolute need. Babson has all along been an enemy of the Townsend plan and has written many articles which have given evidence of his ignorance of the true facts of its program. It is, therefore, not strange that he should start on another rampage when he sees rapid growth of opinions taking place which are contrary to his own on this subject.

Why a man of Babson's knowledge will write about a subject which he apparently has never really investigated is a conundrum. When the nation has so long been in a state of doldrums and needs some sort of a national recovery plan which will return to its citizens needed opportunities of employment and business revival it would seem that a statistician would at least look into the merits of any plan offered. But this, Babson does not do. Instead he bundles the California "ham and eggs plan" along with all other old age economic programs including the Townsend plan into one classification, all of which, using his own words, he describes as "fantastic pension schemes."

In the first paragraph of his article he says: "But the political exploiting of these fantastic pension schemes is a real menace to the nation's security. Every one of the ideas—from the original Townsend scheme to the current ham and eggs for California's version—could give us a period of wild inflation and end up by bankrupting the nation."

What Mr. Babson evidently doesn't know is that the Townsend plan is a pay as you go plan and makes impossible any governmental indebtedness resulting from its operation. This writer has never heard of a nation or even a business institution that paid its bills as rapidly as they originated becoming bankrupt. Under the Townsend program, annuities would not be paid in any larger monthly amounts to the aged than the 2 per cent transaction tax collected monthly and placed in a separate fund of the United States treasury would insure to the annuity a capability of doing. Annuities would be paid in amounts comparable to the volume of business being experienced by the business institutions along with other things to the spending power enjoyed by the citizens. Mr. Babson writes fluently but he writes the same old hokey that has characterized his ideas on this subject in the past. He needs to learn that in this age the nation's economics along with other things must be streamlined for rapid going. This, the Townsend plan will do.

Townsend Club No. 11, which meets at Franklin schoolhouse, 1512 West Fourth street, Friday night, will have a "stunt" program. Everyone will be expected to contribute something to the program or pay a fine.

The meanest thief was in evidence in Santa Ana over Thanksgiving Day—He stole a turkey and groceries valued at $3.74 from the automobile of Rudy Flores of Santa Ana on Wednesday afternoon, according to police.

R. C. Story reported his malt shop at 1711 North Main street was robbed, the thief escaping with $20 cash. He entered the building by prying the rear door open with a small bar.

Thanksgiving held a treat for B. J. Peiringer, of Pasadena because of the sharp eyes of Santa Ana police. Officers saw a car which "looked hot" because the keys were still in the machine. They found it was a stolen car and that it belonged to Peiringer.

Shelley Trotter, route 1, box 490, Santa Ana, reported someone stole a voltmeter valued at $25 from his automobile.

Boys under 16 years of age in Santa Ana will be given an opportunity to compete for prizes beginning Saturday in a ping-pong tournament sponsored by the local Y. M. C. A. This was the announcement made today as entries were being received.

Beginning Saturday, the first in a series of tournaments will be held. Qualifying rounds will be played in the afternoon, while the semi-finals and finals will be played at night.

Each player will be given at least two chances to remain in the competition as play will be double elimination. Spectators are welcome.

CAST AT WORK ON NEXT PLAY OF S. A. GROUP

"Accent on Youth" was a decided hit on the New York stage and I am sure that our own Santa Ana audiences will be equally enthusiastic when they see our production at the Ebell Clubhouse December 9 and 10." So commented Gladys Simpson Shaffer when interviewed while preparing for rehearsal of the comedy.

Rehearsals have been under way for three weeks at the home of Mrs. Charles Riggs, 901 Spurgeon street, under the direction of Gladys Simpson Shaffer.

The nine members of the cast are well known for their past work in Community Player productions.

John Colwell, attorney and president of Community Players, needs no introduction to Santa Ana audiences after his work in the title role in "Counselor-at-Law." He accepted the role of the playwright, Stephen Gaye only after considerable persuasion by the casting committee and the director.

Lois Rees (Mrs. Leland) Auer has been drafted from her busy life in Brea for the part of Genevieve. She has been missed by Community Players for the past several seasons and will be remembered for her performances in "Lillian," "Enter Madame" and "Bellamy Trial."

Joe Yocum took lead parts several years ago in Junior college drama productions, being especially remembered for his acting in "Lost Horizons." He also was seen in the Community Players' one-act, "Red Bubble" and now moves up to the juvenile lead in "Accent on Youth."

Julia Ann Hyde is playing the character part of Miss Darling, the actress.

Harold Fish is cast as Flegell, the perfect gentleman's gentleman (butler to you), contrasting with his everyday role of banker.

James Hathcock, who gave a sensitive performance as Weinberg in "Counselor-at-Law" will lay aside his work as Credit Supervisor for a local wholesale house and play the part of Frank Galloway, the middle-aged actor.

Avery Johnson is familiar to Santa Ana audiences from his important though brief appearances in "First Lady," "Trial of Mary Dugan" and "Counselor-at-Law." Mr. Johnson is familiarly known to the Players active group, as "the stand-by."

James Doyle, one of the newer players in point of service with Community Players, is a young veteran in dramatics, having done considerable work in Tustin High school and Santa Ana Junior college dramatic productions as well as appearing in the Community Players' one-act "Red Bubble."

Tickets for "Accent on Youth" will go on sale at the Santa Ana Book store Monday, December 5. Season tickets for the remaining two major productions of Santa Ana Community Players together with all three nights of the Tournament of One-Act plays to be given next April, may also be obtained at the Santa Ana Book store.

ANOTHER NOTE SENT GERMANY

BERLIN. (AP)—The United States embassy was understood today to have transmitted a new note to the German government concerning Austrian bonds.

The embassy would not divulge the contents, asserting the question of publication rested with the state department in Washington.

I was believed the note rejected Germany's communication of last Monday as unsatisfactory.

The principal Austrian debt is $24,055,708.92 due the United States for flour sold Austria on credit just after the World war.

The English shilling was first minted in 1504.

CHARACTER SKETCHES

Writing character sketches has been the recent work of Mrs. Evelyn Minge's L-9-Q English class. The students were permitted to choose any character they wished.

According to Mrs. Minge some of the outstanding sketches were written by Eloise Revill, Cecile Descant, Miriam Christ, Marjorie Adkinson and Roland McAndrew.

TEXT SELECTED

Mrs. Veda Mashmeyer's L-9-T social science class, which had the privilege of selecting the text on world history for the rest of the year, chose "Man's Great Adventure" which will be supplemented by the latest edition of the Rugg text, "Changing Government and Changing Culture."

The students chose this text because of its colored plates, helpful diagrams, and the interesting way in which it is written," Mrs. Mashmeyer commented.

Betty Ellen Richardson, a member of the seventh grade at Willard, was awarded a prize for the best composition written in the essay contest. Her subject was "The World of the Future." Betty Ellen was given the privilege of reading her essay over radio station KFI on Pat Bishop's News Reports program at 7:15 a. m.

Betty Ellen's composition was written about a 13-year-old man living in Westminster, and the prize she was awarded consisted of a medal and a merchandise slip for a pair of shoes.

MONITORS NAMED

The monitors for the main and attendance offices for this semester have been announced by Mrs. Dorothy Weakley, secretary, and Mrs. Margaret Hamill, clerk. Helen Carpenter is in the main office; the second block; George Bohn, fourth block; Evelyn Williams, fifth block; and Mildred Burke, sixth. In the attendance office are: Mary Sneykal, first block; Bernadine Curran, third block; Mary Henderson, fourth block; and Harold Wood-smith, fifth.

Barbara McFadden assisted Norma Hicks when the L-7-C general science class experimented with heat and taste in a recent study of the nervous system. Mr. Hicks stated that most of the pupils could hear all the frequencies between 50 and 10,000 cycles in this test of the auditory nerve.

Each member of the group was blindfolded and asked to hold his nose during the experiment conducted on taste when samples of potato, apple and onion were used. Pupils were asked to name the taste of each different sample. Two-thirds of the group, according to Mr. Hicks, were correct in their tastes.

LEGION CHIEF INSISTS ON BRIDGES TRIAL

NEW YORK. (AP)—Stephen Chadwick, national commander of the American Legion, said today he would ask congress to act upon the case of Harry Bridges, west coast CIO leader, if Secretary of Labor Perkins did not soon hold deportation hearings against the maritime leader.

Secretary Perkins' delay in taking action against Bridges, Chadwick asserted, seriously impairs the nation's second line of defense in the Pacific—the merchant marine.

Pointing out that the merchant service is a potential auxiliary to the fleet, Chadwick said Pacific coastwise traffic had been "virtually wiped out" through Bridges' activities.

In a letter to Secretary Perkins made public yesterday, Chadwick said that "for a period of four years, you have had before you charges that Mr. Bridges is one who believes in and advocates the overthrow of our existing form of government by force and violence."

"As spokesman for the American Legion I must say that we cannot and do not agree with either the reasons assigned for your deferring hearing in the Bridges case or your course of inaction in the premises."

New one-piece telephones are being manufactured in mass production in India to replace the old two-piece office models.

evening classes, which are held four nights a week at Willard, Lathrop and the high school," Mrs. Golden Weston, director and principal of the Willard Evening High school, stated today.

Over 6000 attended last year, according to Mrs. Weston, but probably more will come this year because there is such a wide range of subjects to choose from.

Any adult in the community who is not in high school is eligible to attend these classes which are part of the public school system. There is no tuition, but each student must furnish his own textbooks and materials.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

After-school girls' tennis tournaments will begin in January, according to Miss Wyllys Anderson, girls' athletic instructor. Both singles and doubles will be played and the winners placed higher on the tennis ladder. At the end of the season the winners will play to see who will be this year's champion.

Eighth and ninth grade girls are eligible for this practice in tennis technique and can sign up on the paper posted on the P. E. bulletin board.

RADIUM STUDIED

Pupils of Mrs. Ruth Low's L7 general science classes who have received radium cards from Dr. Luther Gable, authority on the subject, have been borrowing the cards from the school to take home and perform experiments with these cards.

A minute quantity of actual radium is visible on the cards, which when observed through a magnifying glass is seen to emit thousands of alpha rays which appear as vivid sparks. Theoretically this radium should lose only half of its fiery energy in 1680 years.

"Because radium is so rare, the students are very fortunate in having this opportunity to observe it," Mrs. Low remarked.

THEMES OF HEROES

Themes, consisting of at least five paragraphs, on one of the 12 heroic figures chosen by students from schools in more than 30 countries, have just been completed by the pupils of the L-9-I and L-9-M English composition classes, instructed by Mrs. Mabel Burt.

These compositions, which will take the place of a final examination were developed along lines of character, nature of construction to world civilization, and sacrifices and devotion necessary to accomplish it.

DESK PRODUCTS

Desks, coffee tables, paddle boards, row boats, chests, book shelves, sail boats, a ping pong table, end tables, cedar boxes, treasure chests, and Spanish desks are the largest projects being made by Arthur Niswanger's four woodshop classes. Of these classes one is an eighth grade, while the other three consist of ninth graders.

NEW QUARTETS

According to Herbert Michel, instructor of the combined instrumental groups of Willard, there will be two string quartets made up of Lucille Mendenhall and Hilda Bernstein, cello; and Raymond Winter, Marvin Jones, Rovena Aronade and Ed Scott, violin. These quartets will be accompanied by Patsy McGee.

There is also going to be a trumpet quartet and a quartet. The trumpet quartet will consist of Bobby Bogart, Wayne Herzog, Stewart Gibson and Don Nelson. The brass quartet will have two trumpet players, one baritone and a trombone. The trumpets will be played by Raymond Winters, Victor Lauderbach, Harold Voet and Jean Withall will play the baritone and the trombone.

This year, as last, there will be a popular orchestra which so far has 14 members signed, and more are expected, according to Mr. Michel. The members who are signed so far are Raymond Winters, Rovena Aronade, Don Marley, Ed Fenstad, Don Nelson, Wallace Dietrich, Bobby Bogart, Marvin Jones, Patsy McGee, Jean Withall, Marian Christ, Dorothy Garner, Raymond Winter and Reginald Costello.

OPPORTUNITY NIGHT VICTORS TO BE ON STAGE

Tonight, in addition to the Jitterbug contest on the stage, Walker's theater will present the winners of Opportunity Night program of last year. On the screen, they will offer Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in "Too Hot to Handle" and "Campus Confessions," featuring Betty Grable and Hank Luisetti.

Thousands of Orange county theater-goers will recall the Opportunity Night programs which were presented on Walker's stage for 28 weeks, during 1936-1937. More than two hundred aspiring artists displayed their various talents, striving for the grand prize, a trip to New York. G. Willard Bassett, winner of the final contest, represented Santa Ana on Major Bowes' amateur radio program, during his prize trip.

Bassett, and at least two other finalists, Jean Baldwin and Mary Kay Harper, will appear tonight, to assist in the announcement of the renewal of the program.

Feeling that the presence of an orchestra, on the stage, would add to the program, Manager Vic Walker has engaged Ev and Red Wallace and their Accent on Brass orchestra. This popular orchestra is appearing each week-end at the Rendezvous ballroom, at Balboa.

STATE STOPS FROZEN CITRUS

FRESNO. (AP)—Establishment of two highway inspection stations, one at Herndon and the other at Castaic, and rigid enforcement of regulations against movement of frozen citrus fruit was announced here today by A. G. Hayes, supervising inspector of the state bureau of fruit and vegetable standardization.

Hayes and H. W. Poulsen of Sacramento, assistant chief of the bureau, will supervise the work in cooperation with county agricultural commissioners and will have headquarters at Lindsay. Six men from the state bureau have been assigned to Fresno, Tulare and Kern counties.

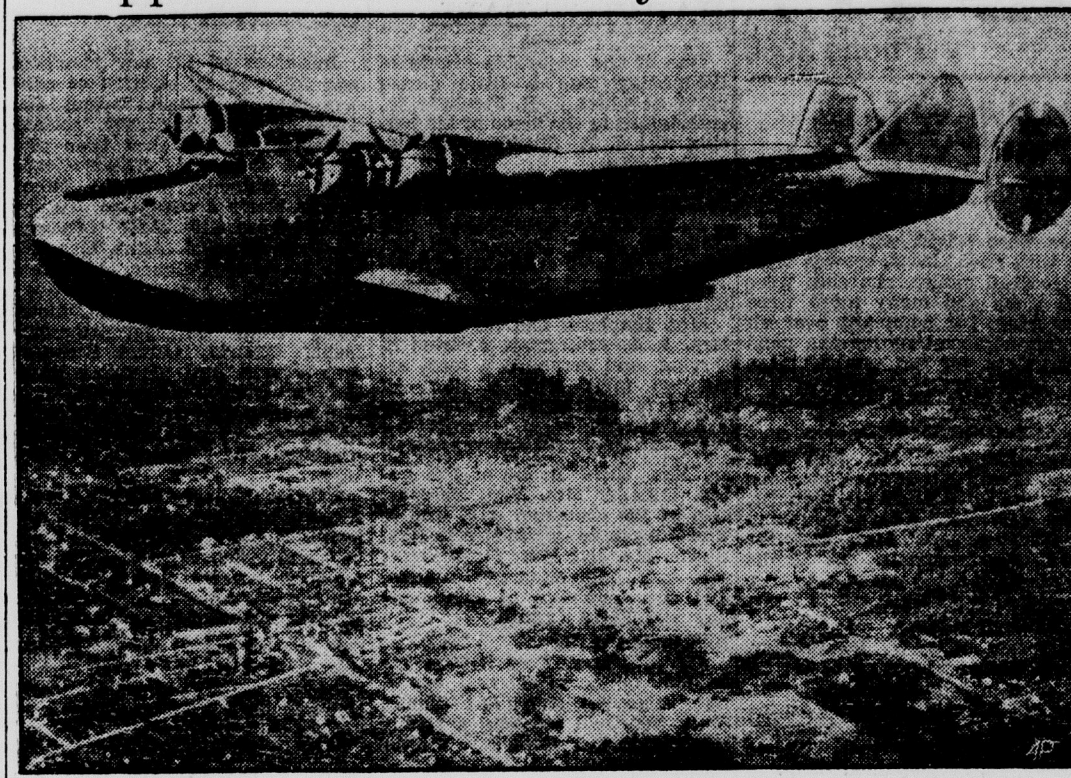

Hayes said about 5000 boxes of frozen fruit have been dumped thus far in the campaign designed to prevent its movement.

NEW GENERAL WELFARE ACT TO BE DRAWN

A new General Welfare pension act, slightly modified from the present act now in congressional session, was promised today by Rep. Harry R. Sheppard, leaving for the East to prepare for the new session of congress beginning Jan. 3.

Sheppard did not reveal details of the act, but said he would begin preparing it before congress convenes and would introduce the legislation during the next session.

The present General Welfare act, congressional outgrowth of the Townsend plan, has been supported by Sheppard and a general welfare bloc of congressmen who have, however, been unable to dislodge it from committee. Sheppard said he believed a modified act would be the solution to that problem.

Sheppard said the time between his arrival in Washington and the opening of congress in January would also be devoted to shaping legislative programs on flood control and water conservation, public works and unemployment, neutrality, agricultural problems — he promised to emphasize the problems and needs of the citrus growers and labor and veterans legislation.

Relief Rolls Not Reduced Necessarily by Improvement In Business, Says President

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP)—President Roosevelt said today business conditions generally were showing increasing improvement. He told a press conference, however, that while there was no question that employment had picked up, this did not necessarily mean relief rolls would drop in proportion immediately.

He pointed out that last spring a good many were out of work and there was no work for them because the relief appropriations did not employ at the low point anything like the number of persons who needed assistance.

"The President talked to reporters as he sat behind the wheel of an open car on a dirt road in front of a press cottage."

The chief executive would give no hint as to the size of the relief appropriation for next year and the remaining four months of the current fiscal year. This would have to await his message to congress, he said.

Talking about business and employment, he said production in most industries was increasing faster than the re-employment of labor. This was one thing the administration has had to contend with right along, he said.

Explaining the population was increasing, he said if, for example, 30,000,000 persons were employed at the peak of 1937, today there would be several hundred thousand additional needing employment to make up for boys and girls coming of age.

His business comments were in response to inquiries concerning labor department reports showing 248,000 had been re-employed in manufacturing industries in October and 900,000 had been taken back into private employment in the last four months, with payrolls up.

He had no comment to make on the Jewish refugee question when asked about the statement by the British colonial and dominion secretary, Malcolm MacDonald, that Palestine should not be opened to 100,000 of Germany's 700,000 Jews.

FACE-IN-DREAM PHOTO SHOWN IN DEATH CASE

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—The investigation into the strange death of Eugene Y. Burckhalter Monday was temporarily halted today by the storm which isolated Dist. Atty. Elbert T. Gallagher in his North Westchester home.

Police interest was centered in a "face-in-a-dream" photograph of Burckhalter, taken by his wife just before he went to his death in a home-made lethal chamber she said she helped him set up. The picture shows him standing near the garage at the Burckhalter Hastings - on-the - Hudson home where he was found dead. Gallagher has described the photograph as that of a man whose "face appeared absolutely blank, without a single emotion, like a face in a dream."

Police Chief John F. Donegan, of Hastings, awaited Gallagher's return for the announced intention of having Mrs. Burckhalter perform a step-by-step reenactment. Gallagher was expected to reach here late today.

Mrs. Burckhalter spent a quiet Thanksgiving day reading in her cell in the county jail, where she is held in default of $10,000 bail. The bespectacled housewife ate the extra holiday fare provided for all prisoners and had a respite from the almost constant questioning she has undergone since her husband's body was found in his automobile.

She will be arraigned Tuesday on a technical charge of first-degree manslaughter for aiding and abetting a suicide.

Unable to raise $2000 bail, Melvin Kittel, 34, a salesman who had been a night club and theater companion of Mrs. Burckhalter, also spent Thanksgiving day in jail, held as a material witness.

Chief Donegan today impounded the car in which Burckhalter died, as well as Mrs. Burckhalter's automobile which she used for a shopping trip after she said she helped her husband arrange a tube from the automobile exhaust and seal the windows. Donegan said a finance company sought both cars in lieu of payments due on two loans against them.

The father's complaint, which names as defendants Los Angeles county, the county flood control district and Culver City, alleges they were negligent in allowing the creek to remain unguarded.

Thanksgiving Holiday Is Observed In Many Homes

Ovens crackled and sizzled, tables were bright with gleaming crystal and silver, houses were alight with friendliness, crowds were merrily surging back and forth from football games, churches were packed with grateful worshippers—all these and many more were part of Santa Ana's Thanksgiving yesterday, yet dominant over all was the spirit of happiness and content, appreciation for the good things of life, that originally was the reason for the establishment of the great American holiday.

Noticeable was the stressing of home and family groups for the customary turkey dinners, although many shared their festive boards with close friends.

Segerstroms Have Annual Reunion Week

Because this year marks the 40th anniversary of their coming to California, the annual Thanksgiving week reunion and celebration of the Segerstrom family has even more significance for the many branches gathered together here. It is a continuation of an old world custom that every possible member of the family be together once a year, and the occasion, which always falls during the American holiday week, is invariably packed with happy events.

First to entertain the entire group were the Harold Segerstroms yesterday in their home at 1501 North Broadway. Today finds the Anton Segerstroms serving dinner in their Victoria drive home, at which Ruth Ann and Henry, their children, will take their visiting cousins to the girls' Ebbl dance at the Ebbl club-house.

HOLDEN AND ELLIOTT ANNOUNCE THEIR KEY APPOINTMENTS

C.C. Teague Renews His Plea for Co-operation of Citrus Producers

Prorate Declared Only Way to Avert Greater Deficits

Another plea for cooperation in promoting citrus fruits to prevent ruin to growers was made last night in a radio address by C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

In the second of a series of talks on KVOE and the Don Lee network, Teague outlined progress of prorate plans and said even a strong cooperative marketing organization was incapable of coping with a large surplus.

"When production is only a little beyond the demand," he said, "a cooperative with 60 to 75 per cent control can protect the price level. It holds back when competitors overstep... and still makes a better return to its growers than competitors can."

BLOCKED BY MINORITY

"... But this won't work when production is 10 per cent or more in excess of the demand for fruit at fair prices. Members of a cooperative cannot shoulder the full burden of removing heavy surpluses while unorganized producers sell their entire crops at protected prices..."

"... Tuesday night I told how the exchange initiated the orange prorate... I told how 82 per cent of the growers had signed for this agreement through their packing houses and how a small minority had now succeeded in temporarily blocking proration."

CASE OF LEMONS

"The case with lemons is even more amazing. For the past 10 years there has been an average lemon surplus of 20 per cent. But all during this period lemons brought good prices... In 1935, however, the lemon surplus reached the alarming figure of 35 per cent. Even larger surpluses were seen ahead... The exchange initiated a petition to bring lemons under the state prorate. Seven out of every eight growers signed it. But the Mutual Orange Distributors and American Fruit Growers, with less than 10 per cent of the lemons, obtained a court injunction against it."

FAMILY OF SIX DIES IN FIRE

AMSTERDAM, N. Y. (AP)—An entire family of six persons—a 27-year-old mother and five children—was burned fatally today in a tenement house fire during a heavy snowstorm.

The victims were Mrs. Carrie Derosa, a widow of five months, and Edward, 9; Dorothy, 8; Carl, 6; James, 3; and Michael, 2.

Fire Chief Matthew J. Kavanaugh said he believed the family was huddled around a portable oil stove in the living room of a small second floor apartment when the heater exploded.

The father, James Derosa, was killed last July when he fell from a bridge on which he was working.

continue unaided regulation of lemons. Without an industry prorate it is certain that crops will sell at heavy losses.

FLORIDA'S POSITION

"Florida citrus growers have not yet learned to cooperate as well as we have. Their industry is dominated by commercial shippers whose principal purpose is to withdraw objections."

REDLAND.—The Mutual Orange Distributors, which recently blocked efforts of the prorate committee to set a prorate on oranges under the California-Arizona agreement, is ready to withdraw objections.

It is indicated by J. A. Steward, sales manager, that today, when the prorate group and growers' advisory committees meet in Los Angeles, the M.O.D. representatives will be ready to vote for a prorate.

Mr. Steward says the prorate was blocked in order that some move could be made to correct evils that had grown up and this was done at a meeting of citrus men in Washington.

M.O.D. representatives still feel that volume prorate is a mistake.

to collect a packing or handling profit through shipping maximum volume regardless of returns to growers. They have, for the most part, opposed all prorate plans.

"We are threatened with a surplus plus 30 to 50 per cent above the quantity we have ever sold in the past. Without prorate, nothing but red ink can stop shipments. Crops are sure to sell below the cost of production. Success with proration depends greatly upon the support of a cooperative controlling a large percentage of the crop."

"It's up to you growers. Do you want to go through a long period of bitter competition to see which one of us can last the longest?... Or will you pool your brains with those of your fellow growers... to get the best possible result from a situation which at best will be difficult?"

Hollywood Blvd. To Be Renamed Santa Claus Lane

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—This world film capital jumps from Thanksgiving right into the Christmas season tonight, with governors and film stars aiding Kris Kringle in opening Santa Claus lane, otherwise Hollywood boulevard.

Two screen sisters, Priscilla and Rosemary Lane, will slash a 300-foot ribbon of film, opening the lane, as Jean Parker switches on 100,000 multi-colored lights. Kris Kringle will jingle down the lane in a big sleigh, Charlie McCarthy, Edgar Bergen and Dorothy Lamour at his side.

'Alcohol, Tobacco, Coffee,' Topic

A Study In Contrast

It was a contrast, too, that attendants at the San Mateo county (Calif.) Community hospital saw when Mrs. Reubelle Spoor, 40, 387-year-old mother held her five-day-old, Shirley, who tipped the scales at five pounds 11 ounces. Both were reported doing well.

A total of 2346 certificates were issued by the National Red Cross

EX-GANGSTER FOUND SLAIN

CHICAGO. (AP)—Thanksgiving Day ended in death by assassination for Joseph "Red" Bolton, 40, a gangster of the turbulent prohibition era.

He was shot to death a few minutes before midnight as he turned into his apartment walk.

Police investigators regarded it as an underworld attack but could not determine the motive. They said Bolton reportedly had operated a handbook and that the killing might be the outgrowth of a gambling feud.

Two years ago Bolton's brother, State Representative John M. Bolton, was slain by gangland assassins.

450 Tots Guests At Dinner

"Pass the turkey!" That cry abounded through the banquet hall of the Green Cat cafe yesterday as 450 Santa Ana children were feted at a free turkey dinner.

To show how hungry they were, here's what they consumed: 17 turkeys, 500 pints of milk, 15 gallons of ice cream, 50 loaves of bread, 15 pounds of butter, 150 pounds squash, 200 pounds of potatoes, 5 gallons of cranberry sauce, 200 pounds of dressing, 10 gallons of gravy, besides rolls, candy and peanuts.

Serving of the free dinners began at 11:30 a. m., and continued steadily until 3 p. m. Every child got as much as he wanted to eat, with plenty of extra portions of ice cream and milk being served.

Host of the day was O. W. Hinegardner, proprietor of the Green Cat, who staged the affair. Co-operating with him were the Elks club, service clubs, chamber of commerce, and numerous merchants.

Flowers for decorations were furnished by Macres, Bouquet Shop, and Flowerland. The Green Cat furnished the turkey; Pomona dairy served the milk; Independent Dairies, ice cream; Golden State, butter; Banner Produce, squash and potatoes; Rykoff Groceries, cranberries; Bakers Bakery, rolls; and L. B. Harrison, candy and peanuts.

FILM STORY WILL BE TOLD

Tonight's speaker at the Four-square church, Fairview and Sycamore streets, will be Mrs. L. DeVries who will relate some of her experiences while in motion pictures at Hollywood, according to the Rev. W. C. Parham, minister of the church.

Dr. DeVries is scheduled to husband in a revival service at the church. She will be assisted in musical numbers by young people of the congregation.

Dr. DeVries is scheduled to speak to the Sunday school at 9:45. His morning worship topic will be "The Holy Spirit and its Power in the Church." At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mrs. DeVries will speak to women and young girls of the church. Sunday evening Dr. DeVries will speak on "Gethsemane." The public is invited to attend these sermons, the Rev. Parham said.

Bankruptcy Expert Talks Here Dec. 2

Reuben G. Hunt of Los Angeles, expert on bankruptcy matters, will address members of the Orange County Bar association at their next meeting at Daniger's Dec. 2. It was announced today by Secretary George Parker.

Hunt will speak about the new Chandler Bankruptcy act, with which he is familiar as he was called into conference at Washington during the formulation of the act.

CHEMICAL ENGINEER DIES

NEW YORK. (AP)—Dr. Alcan Hirsch, 53, a number of years the chief advisor of the chemical division of the commissariat of heavy industry of the Soviet Union, died yesterday.

Previously the society heard accounts of the trip by Herschel Albrecht, vice president of the Tavern Tattlers, who also made the trip.

The club will meet at 7:30 in the college library. President Carroll Richardson will preside.

Good Season Sighted Ahead For Avocados

Avocados are scheduled for a good year.

This prediction was made today by George B. Hodgkin, manager of Calavo Growers of California, who said an exceptional year is ahead despite the sizable crop now starting to move to market.

Demand for locally-grown Calavo avocados has increased 40 per cent since three years ago, Hodgkin said, due chiefly to growers' consistent advertising.

Hodgkin predicted substantially heavier new planting within the next two years because of the good returns from the 1938 crop compared with returns from almost all other fruits. He warned against a sudden increase of new plantings or replacement of citrus with avocados, however.

3 S. A. BOYS WILL ATTEND CONFERENCE

Three Santa Ana boys and an advisor will be among the 300 Southern California youths who will attend the annual Older Boys' conference at the Glendale Y. M. C. A. The two-day session begins tomorrow afternoon.

Boys' Secretary Herbert Thomas of the Santa Ana "Y" will attend, accompanied by James Lindley, Sam Campbell and Bob Winterbourne.

Highlight of the conference will be the "college night program" tomorrow evening when "Bill" Rogers, son of the late Will Rogers, will speak on "My Experiences in Spain." The theme of the conference will consist of "Gambling" and "Boy Meets Girl."

Girl Team Chief Stricken in Orient

MANILA. (AP)—Dorothy Day of Los Angeles, taken ill at Bacolod, Occidental negroes province, several days ago, returned to Manila by airplane today and was reported considerably improved.

Miss Day is secretary of an American girls' softball team invading the Orient. She was stricken suddenly while the team was playing on Negros island and was confined to a hospital near Bacolod. She was reported improved enough that she will be able to sail with the team for Hong-kong Monday.

List Speakers for Riverside Session

(AP)—Prominent European authorities, a war correspondent from China and representatives of various eastern universities will join with delegates from 16 universities of the west in discussing current international problems during the sixteenth annual institute of world affairs to be held here Dec. 11-16.

Among the speakers will be Senator Elbert D. Thomas from Utah; Dr. I. W. Jennings, London School of Economics; Harrison Brown of London, magazine contributor; T. J. Timperley, China correspondent of the Manchester Guardian.

Ogle to Be Ass't D. A. and Bruns New Undersheriff

JOEL OGLE
Holden Assistant

PLUMMER W. BRUNS
Undersheriff-to-be

Key men in the district attorney's and sheriff's offices for the new term, beginning in January, were announced today, with wholesale sweepings-out evident when George Holden and Jesse Elliott, elected this month to the respective offices, take over the reins Jan. 3.

Only one of five deputies now serving under Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton, defeated for election, will be retained by Holden.

Elliott, announcing four chief positions in the sheriff's office, also retained just one of the men now serving under Sheriff Logan Jackson, defeated at the polls by the Santa Ana constable.

OTHER JOBS UNFILLED

Neither of the newly-elected officials announced his complete staff, Holden making no statement as to the three stenographers' positions and one deputy's job, and Elliott naming only his undersheriff, chief criminal and civil deputies and jailer.

Joel Ogle, young Santa Ana attorney who campaigned for district attorney in the primaries and then supported Holden just before the general election, will be assistant district attorney at a salary of $325 a month—more than Holden's own salary of $318.75 which is fixed by state law.

Martell Thompson, Orange attorney, prominent in Democratic party work and an active Holden supporter throughout the campaign, will be senior deputy district attorney at $375. He will take the place of J. E. Walker.

TURNER STAYS

Preston Turner, veteran in the office and present assistant district attorney, will be the only one of Menton's staff of attorneys retained in the office. He will be a deputy at $275 a month, taking the place of Robert Gardner.

John Colwell, young Santa Ana attorney associated for several years with W. Maxwell Burke in law practice here, will fill a post similar to Turner's replacing Warren Schutz of Anaheim.

The fifth position, Holden said, has not yet been filled. Reports had it, however, that the $225 post was to be filled either by Lloyd Verry of Fullerton or Leslie Kimmell of Laguna Beach.

SANDON ELEVATED

Harold Boice, assistant police chief of San Clemente, will replace R. H. Sandon as investigator. No changes were imminent in the stenographers' staff, although Holden said one change might be made later.

Tustin Faces Jordan in Playoffs at Long Beach Hornets Score on Disputed Pass

TILLER PREPS AWAIT STERN TEST TONIGHT

Tustin's flashy Tillers, champions of the Orange league, and Long Beach Jordan, Sunset league titleholder, begin firing away in the first round of the C. I. F. prep school football playoffs tonight. Their game will be played at 7:30 o'clock in the Long Beach Junior college stadium, corner Lakewood and Lincoln avenue.

Upwards of 2000 Orange county grid fans are expected to make the trip to Long Beach. Jordan, with heavy support from its own student body and Long Beach fans, probably will furnish 4000 fans.

Coach Russell Wilson's Tustinites breezed through their Orange league schedule, rolling up 181 points to their opponents' 19 in five league and three practice games. Jordan, in five Sunset league games, scored 71 points to the opposition's 19. Here is what the clubs did in their respective leagues:

TUSTIN
Valencia	0
Laguna Beach	0
Garden Grove	0
San Juan Capistrano	0
Brea-Olinda	0
L. B. JORDAN
Huntington Beach	0
Orange	0
Newport Harbor	0
Anaheim	0

In tune-up games, Tustin also boasted a perfect record, with victories over Huntington Beach, 12-0; Downey, 20-0, and Anaheim, 7-6.

Wilson has been whipping his charges into shape following the bruising 6-0 game at Brea which injured three of his regulars. Homer Hannaford, guard, suffered a broken collarbone, and will watch tonight's game from the sidelines. George Veeh, right end, has been hobbling around with a charley horse, but may be ready tonight. Walt Linker, regular fullback, also has been ailing.

ALHAMBRA, POMONA AND SANTA BARBARA GAIN

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Southern California's prep football teams were well on their way today to deciding the California Interscholastic Federation titleholder for this season.

Three Thanksgiving day clashes cleared the atmosphere, with a fourth tilt scheduled tonight.

At Alhambra, the powerful Moors, who won the Coast league championship, edged out a 21-18 victory over Whittier, titlist in the Foothill league, largely through the individual efforts of Quarterback Johnny Petrovich. Petrovich scored all three Moor touchdowns and converted each of them in goal-crossing. Fullback Bobby Greening of Whittier kept pace with him, tallying all the losers' points.

Santa Barbara, powerful independent, had little trouble with Leuzinger of Inglewood, winning 26-6. Leuzinger was runner-up to Woodrow Wilson of Long Beach in the Bay league, but the winners stepped out of the playoffs because of a previous heavy schedule.

Pomona, Citrus Belt league victor, turned in a 14-6 victory over Covina at Covina. It marked the first time this season that the losers, who captured the San Gabriel Valley league crown, had permitted their goal line to be crossed.

Tonight, at Long Beach, another playoff game features Tustin, Orange County league champion, against Jordan of North Long Beach, which took the Sunset league flag.

U. S. C. Rolls to Amazing Win Over Bruins

Halfback Jimmy Jones (32) of the University of Southern California is shown reeling off a 22-yard gain in the Trojan's amazing 42-7 football victory over U. C. L. ### SNOW BATTLE LOOMS FOR ARMY, NAVY

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Snow stacked several inches deep at Municipal stadium and frigid blasts whistling between the goal posts gave prospect today of a cold, bleak setting for one of football's most glamorous games—the annual Army-Navy battle.

Snow, rain, sleet and sub-freezing temperatures slowed but failed to halt the surge of hundreds of visitors into the city. Muffled to the ears, gay in defiance of the wintry winds, they jammed hotel lobbies, railroad stations and bus terminals. More than 105,000 were expected for the kickoff at 10:30 a. m. (Pacific standard time) tomorrow.

Enthusiasm ran high among visitors and home-town residents. It spread along streets resplendent with the blue and gold of Navy and the gold and gray of Army, and penetrated the camps of the enemies.

"The weather," said Capt. Bill Wood, Army's head coach, "is even worse than when we played Chattanooga. We played in a driving rain storm that day and handled the ball exceptionally well."

"Some may figure that gives us an edge on Navy, but there isn't anything as an edge for either when the Army and Navy get together."

"I'd sure love to win this game in my first year as coach. I'll make no predictions, but you can bet it'll be a humdinger."

Navy's head coach, Lieut. Hank Hardwick, proclaimed the Middies "in fine spirits."

"The Army is going to have its hands full beating us if it does," he promised. "We've been rated the underdogs in some quarters and that's okay with us. We're not going out there to lose."

Both teams arrived in a driving snowstorm last night and promptly went into seclusion at suburban headquarters. Both planned light workouts today.

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Snow covered the Bowie race track today, creating unexpected problems for jockeys, owners, form players and others.

For the jockeys, the dilemma was how to get on enough red flannels to keep warm without exceeding weight limits.

Owners pondered whether to stable their horses or risk pneumonia. Thirty-two entries were scratched in the seven races, seven in the first race, and six each in the second, third and sixth.

Foreign players, well informed as to each horse's performance in the mud or on fast turf, were without records on their ability in snow.

"This snow isn't anything," one veteran racing fan recalled. "The horses ran at Bowie in six inches of sleet in 1921 and my horse skated under the wire ahead by twenty lengths."

New Mexico's Elevens Set For Sun Bowl

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—It will be "New Mexico" in the Sun Bowl at El Paso New Year's day.

That much appeared a certainty today, but whether the border conference representative would be University of New Mexico or New Mexico State college remained to be decided.

The Sunshine state elevens deadlocked for the loop title yesterday when State's Aggies bowled over Texas Mines, 13 to 6.

Dr. Bob Homan, director of the Sun Bowl, announced he was telegraphing representatives of the seven conference schools, asking them which of the two New Mexico teams they would choose for the New Year classic.

Western Reserve and Georgetown looked to be the likeliest choices for the Eastern team.

Both Lobos and Aggies wound up their conference seasons with four wins and one loss in loop play, but the Lobos appeared to have an edge because of their 6-2 win over the Farmers two weeks ago.

New Mexico university athletic heads have indicated they would look with favor on a Sun Bowl bid. The Lobos swamped Colorado Aggies, 27 to 7, yesterday to wind up a season in which they met defeat only at the hands of Texas Mines and Texas Tech.

Pitt Athletes Involved in Controversy

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—The football fuss at the University of Pittsburgh was a wide open, free-for-all contest today with the university's chancellor, the Letter club, the alumni and the city's chamber of commerce involved.

The revolt of 22 freshmen football players a week ago set off anew the campus controversy that first boiled over two years ago after the Rose Bowl game and has been simmering off and on since then.

The freshmen admitted they signed notes for $150 tuition for a semester but contended they understood this was mere formality. Then, they charged, they were being "dunned" for the money.

Iowa Approaches Holy Cross Coach

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Dr. Eddie Anderson, football coach at Holy Cross, admitted he had been in conversation with an emissary from the University of Iowa regarding the coaching berth there now held by Irv Tubbs.

Dr. Anderson would say no more than he had been "approached by a representative of the Iowa Athletic association."

Five Years Ago—With 79,000 crowding Franklin Field, Army won its fourth straight Carnegie game from Navy and its ninth consecutive game of the season. The score was 12 to 7.

TROY'S 42-7 WIN RAISES BOWL HOPES

By ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Southern California's Rose Bowl hopes, to make a simple understatement of fact, soared higher than the moon today as followers of the Trojan warhorse continued to celebrate the 42 to 7 annihilation of the University of California at Los Angeles.

The Thanksgiving day triumph was hailed here as the clinching argument in Southern California's bid for the Far West's Rose Bowl nomination. A mere victory over the dreaded Uclans from across the city was all the Trojan supporters had asked for, but a 42 to 7 demonstration of strength left the boys and girls already able to do anything more than yell their heads off.

The win left Southern California in a tie with the California Bears of Berkeley for the conference title, and the machinery was set up today for the conference to begin voting on which team will be selected to carry the colors of the Far West into the annual Rose Bowl encounter.

The result of the vote of the 10 members will not be announced until noon Monday, and both Trojan and California backers swung into high gear this morning in behalf of their respective claims.

California's contention that it should get the bid because the Trojans slapped over California, 13 to 7, and precedence holds that when two elevens tie for the title, the one that whipped the other should get the bid. That is S. C.'s argument.

California's answer is that it is the champion until dethroned, and that U. S. C. lost a non-conference game to Alabama in addition to its conference setback by Washington, and faces a tougher non-conference assigned encounter.

Four such games, topped by the Pittsburgh-Duke business at Durham, are on tomorrow's menu, competing with the pageantry of the otherwise meaningless Army-Navy spectacle. Duke is unbeaten, untied and unscored upon, but Pitt is a decided threat to this record.

Texas Christian faces a dangerous Southern Methodist crew in the Southwest conference. All bars are down, too, on the Oklahoma university tussle with Oklahoma A. & M. and Texas Tech's appointment with Marquette.

All of these foemen have been more or less reticent about their post season plans but, in spite of denials that they care about invasions, Duke, Pitt and Texas Christian are all glowing prospects for any bowl and tomorrow's activities may determine in which direction each will entrain, if at all.

The second section of this week's football supplement is spotted with other attraction offerings—some of them so traditional as to make an old blue turn red.

Georgia Tech and Georgia, Fordham-N. Y. U., Washington State, Oregon-Oregon State, Baylor-Rice, Louisiana State-Tulane, Florida-Auburn and Boston College-Holy Cross all fall into this class.

The day's long-distance prize, no matter what the score, will go to the Dartmouth-Stanford rally at Palo Alto, Calif.

After the echoes of this shouting have faded away, fans still will have Notre Dame's annual skirmish with Southern California, Tennessee's Southeastern conference contest with Mississippi and Oklahoma's tilt with Washington State to what their interest—besides a sprinkling of other games right up until the big New Year's day blow-off.

Thanksgiving day provided a respectable share of football fireworks all over the country without disturbing the even course of the gridiron's favorite people.

Southern California made a robust bid for the right to represent the Pacific coast in the Rose Bowl by routing the University of California at Los Angeles, 42 to 7, after the Uclans took a 7-0 lead in the first period. The Trojans are tied with California for the coast crown, but hold a victory over the Bears.

Tennessee, still with a game to thanksgiving day, clinched its Southeastern conference championship by trouncing Kentucky, 46 to 0. Cornell slid into the Ivy league upper berth on a scoreless tie with Pennsylvania.

Defeated, Villanova mauled Manhattan, 20 to 0, and Carnegie Tech, topped only by Notre Dame in a controversial game, concluded its campaign with a 14-0 victory over North Carolina State.

Shine Hall and Sid Luckman staged a circus in which Brown won its fourth straight Carnegie victory of the season. Utah, champion of the Rocky Mountain "Big Seven," was shut out, 16-0, by Idaho.

Texas proved there is always reason for hope by edging out Texas A. & M., 7-6, for its first victory of the season. Utah, champion of the Rocky Mountain "Big Seven," was shut out, 16-0, by Idaho.

Hornets Score on Disputed Pass

Four touchdowns, all scored the spectacular way, kept a Thanksgiving day crowd on "edge" as Santa Ana and Fullerton Junior colleges battled to a 13-13 deadlock in their annual "big game" in the Fullerton stadium yesterday.

Coach Wendell Pickens' upcountry Yellowjackets came from behind a 13-6 lead in the last four minutes of play, completing a disputed 24-yard pass from Aubrey Minter, quarterback, to Ray Bandel, right end, over the goal. The three officials, who apparently differed in opinion as to whether Bandel really caught the ball, went into a huddle and finally ruled the pass a touchdown. With the score 13-12, Fullerton sent in its ace goal-kicker, Moody, who booted the ball between the uprights for the 13-13 deadlock.

The undisputed pass play resulting in Fullerton's second touchdown stirred up a heated argument among players on the goal-line. Some of the Dons' officials, who apparently differed in opinion as to whether Bandel really caught the ball, went into a huddle and finally ruled the pass a touchdown. With the score 13-12, Fullerton sent in its ace goal-kicker, Moody, who booted the ball between the uprights for the 13-13 deadlock.

Midway in the fourth quarter Henderson intercepted one of Minter's passes, and returned to Fullerton's 34-yard line. The Dons gained to the 29, and on fourth down Stafford punted into the end zone. Fullerton took possession on the 20, and started a drive which ended in a touchdown. From the 24, Minter passed 24 yards to Fullerton's 45. Pickett gained 6 yards, and the Dons were set back 15 yards for unnecessary roughness, giving Fullerton a first down on Santa Ana's 27-yard line. Minter picked up 3 yards. From Santa Ana's 24, the negro star faded back and hurled a long pass to Bandel, who barely missed it. On third down, the same pair figured in another long pass which Bandel brought down in the midst of six or seven players on the Santa Ana goal. The play was apparently hidden from the officials and most of the fans, but after a huddle the officials ruled the pass was completed for a touchdown. Moody kicked the extra point which gave Fullerton a 13-13 deadlock.

Youthful fans swarmed into the field after the game, and several fist fights resulted. The game closed the Eastern conference season for both colleges, leaving Fullerton in third place behind San Bernardino, the champion, and Chaffey.

DARTMOUTH SET FOR STANFORD

PALO ALTO, (P) — Warm weather is making things uncomfortable for the Dartmouth football team, Coach Earl Blaik said today, but he expressed confidence it wouldn't affect their play against Stanford here tomorrow afternoon.

When the Dartmouth players left Hanover, N. H., last week it was snowing and they had been practicing with mittens on.

Blaik admits his lads have a "pretty good" chance of beating the Stanford outfit, but doesn't think his team should be installed as favorite. Stanford is "underrated," Blaik insists.

Holy Cross Coach Reported Signed By Iowa for '39

IOWA CITY, Ia. (P) — The University of Iowa Athletic board may formally announce appointment of Dr. Eddie Anderson of Holy Cross as the new Hawkeye football coach tomorrow.

There is a possibility, however, the board, which released a formal statement yesterday that Ed Tubbs had been hired, would not be rehired, may wait until its Tuesday meeting to officially announce Anderson's appointment.

Although athletic officials remained silent concerning newspaper stories that Anderson, a former Notre Dame star, had been hired, it was understood they were waiting only for Holy Cross to finish its season tomorrow before making the formal announcement. The Cedar Rapids Gazette said Anderson, a native of Mason City, Ia., had signed a contract calling for $12,500 a year.

Tubbs, meanwhile, gave no indication of his future plans.

Encounters Stubborn Foe Tonight

ARMSTRONG 3 TO 2 FAVORITE IN GARCIA FIGHT TONIGHT

NEW YORK, (P) — Henry Armstrong, welterweight and lightweight champion, will give away 12½ pounds when he defends the heavier of his boxing crowns against Ceferino Garcia, west coast Filipino, in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Armstrong weighed in at 134 pounds at the New York state athletic commission office today while Garcia tipped the balances at 146½. Commission physicians found both fighters in perfect condition for their fight, which was postponed from Nov. 2 when the champion injured his back.

NEW YORK, (P) — Henry Armstrong has been paid some nice compliments in the course of his mad career, but the bookmakers and the betting public have handed him the greatest pat-on-the-back yet by installing him a firm 2-to-3 favorite over Ceferino Garcia in their 15-round welterweight title bout tonight in the Garden.

The thousands of words written and said about Garcia's murderous punches have done nothing to shake the public's confidence in the little Negro wonder. The fact that the husky Filipino will outweight Henry by a dozen pounds when they enter the ring is worth only a pored "so what?" from Henry's loyal rooters.

Few fighters ever have gained such a hold on the customers. Promoter Mike Jacobs says indications are that the big hall will be packed, with close to $115,000 in the till. Only four reserved tickets were turned back when the bout was postponed from its original date, Nov. 2.

Though Garcia has a record nearly as striking as Armstrong's over the last two years, and has

Dinner Dance at S. A. Country Club

Dinner dancing will take place tomorrow at Santa Ana Country club beginning at 8:30 p. m. The affair, formal in nature, will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffrey and Mr. and Mrs. Riley Huber.

Sunday at 5:30 p. m. is the regular buffet dinner, with Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Will Spurgeon, jr., as hosts.

The mountain, however, is a strictly Pacific coast animal, and no mountain beaver has been known to live more than a few days in a zoological park outside that region.

Cougars, Huskies in Annual Battle for 'Washington' Title

SEATTLE, (P) — Two teams that haven't been anywhere and aren't going any place in football this year will collide at the Washington stadium tomorrow to seek whatever balm may accrue from winning the state collegiate championship.

There's Washington State college. The boys from the Palouse haven't had the material this year, so they haven't won a Pacific coast conference game yet, their 12-0 win over Idaho notwithstanding. There's Washington. Hailed at the start of the season as the team to beat for the title, the Huskies were mired in a gopher hole in their first game against Minnesota, and didn't climb out until their chances to go anywhere were irretrievably lost.

REHEARSALS HELD DAILY BY COLLEGE CAST

First semester presentation by the Santa Ana Junior college music department is now rounding into shape as daily rehearsals are being held for "Trial by Jury," Gilbert and Sullivan dramatic cantata to be given Wednesday evening, Dec. 14 in the high school auditorium.

Under the direction of Miss Myrtle A. Martin, head of the department, "Trial by Jury" promises to provide amusing entertainment for music lovers in the community. "Trial by Jury" is a satire on the English court system, and it is entirely sung.

The combined men's and women's choruses will sing the production, with Margaret Elmer and Vernon Worden in the leading roles. Supporting cast consists of Bruce Buell, Norman St. Clair, Wilbur Kamrath, and Stanley Sebastian.

Miss Martin urged parents and friends of jaycee students as well as the general public to attend the free performance.

A one-act play will be held in conjunction with the cantata under supervision of Ernest Crozier Phillips, head of the drama department. Cast includes Ruth Rimmel and Wally Grigg in the leading roles. Alleen English, Garth Benjamin, and Vera Scott.

NAZI HONORS FOR AMERICANS

PALO ALTO, Calif. (P) — Adolf Hitler's award of the Order of Merit of the German eagle to two Stanford university professors was described today by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford president, as "an attempt by Hitler to look for friends."

"I'm glad he didn't spot me," Dr. Wilbur said in an interview when informed of the awards.

The awards, announced yesterday in Berlin, were conferred on Dr. William Alpha Cooper, emeritus professor of German, who received the first class Order of Merit; and E. L. Lutz, of the Stanford history department and dean of graduate study, who received the second class order; and several other Americans, including William Lawrence Montgomery, San Francisco chamber of commerce foreign trade department chief.

BABS' STORY BARS MAGAZINE

LONDON, (P) — British news-dealers today destroyed their copies of the December issue of Cosmopolitan magazine to avoid possible legal action by Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, estranged husband of the former Barbara Hutton.

The count raised objections to an article called "the truth about Barbara Hutton," one of a series by Elma Maxwell, society's noted party thrower.

The Daily Mail reported that the American five-and-ten heires had collaborated in preparing the life story but her representative here issued a denial.

Count Court's attorneys refused to comment on the ban or confirm a report that the count had applied for a restraining order.

30-Mile-an-Hour Limit on Speed Urgd by Judge Allen To Reduce Traffic Accidents

A 30-mile-an-hour speed limit to cut down traffic deaths was advocated today by Superior Judge James L. Allen, noted for his "red stripes" rule for persistent traffic law violators.

"Let me cut down the speed," said Judge Allen, "and I will cut down the fatalities."

The judge's speed-limit idea was introduced in Ed Ainsworth's "El Camino Real" column in the Los Angeles Times.

"Wonder would happen," asked Ainsworth, "if anybody within the Los Angeles metropolitan area drove at a speed of less than 30 miles an hour for one day? Could you spare three more minutes for your trip between Los Angeles and Hollywood? Do you think lives are worth saving?"

Judge Allen, in advocating a lower speed limit, said:

"Do you realize that a car going 80 miles an hour travels 120 feet a second? Is it any wonder at such a speed a car cannot be kept under control? Speed is the cause of 85 per cent of all accidents. This being true, we must cut the speed to curtail the dangers. Let me cut down the speed and I will cut down the fatalities."

"Many objectors would protest that a speed of 30 miles per hour is unnecessarily slow; that they are being penalized because of a few witless drivers. If you will drive a car from Los Angeles to Hollywood at the present rate of speed, doing everything possible to accelerate its progress, and a second driver covering the same territory at 30 miles per hour and observing every rule of the road, the two cars will arrive at their destination approximately three minutes apart.

"Is this three minutes sufficient to justify the cause of these accidents? Recently there has been elected by the people of Los Angeles a mayor who proposes to give to the city a clean administration and rid it of its vice. So if the people of Los Angeles and vicinity desire to minimize the death toll now prevalent, it can be done. It lies with the people themselves.

"It is only necessary to pass a speed limit of 30 miles per hour, and its faithful enforcement by the officers and courts. Keep honest enforcement of officers on the street and see that these laws are obeyed and let it be known that the laws apply to everyone, rich and poor, politicians, officials and even personal friends. Treat them all alike.

"According to figures prepared by the National Safety council, where such laws as I have indicated are in effect, the city of Providence, R. I., had a death rate of 4.7 per 100,000 population for the first six months of 1938, while the average for cities of the same population is 14.9. Milwaukee, where similar laws as here recommended are in force, had a death rate of 5, and by way of contrast, one city for a similar period had a death rate of 23.9, or more than five times as great.

"What has been done in Providence and Milwaukee can be done anywhere if there is a will to do it. It is merely a matter of choice, speed or safety.

"After all, what have you done with the time you have saved by speed?"

No class will meet Thursday or Friday this week. Time out for "turkey."

The beginning Spanish class had a jolly dinner party last Friday evening at the Hacienda cafe. Mexican entertainers danced and sang. Many colorful costumes added to the festivity.

Any student, whether just a beginner or an old timer, who wants to learn the art of operating a typewriter under the touch system should attend the well-instructed class in typewriting. ## 1000 PLANES A MONTH, U. S. AIM

WASHINGTON, (P) — Army officials, consulting with the aviation industry today, were reported to have set an airplane production goal of 1000 a month to match Germany.

The army officers themselves were silent on their plans to speed the output of military aircraft but informed persons said the national government hoped to realize the 1000 plane goal in two years or less.

Working at top speed to fill domestic and foreign military orders, American aircraft factories have been able to turn out only 320 planes a month thus far this year. Aircraft manufacturers were summoned here as a first step toward realization of President Roosevelt's announced intention to expand defenses with security of the entire western hemisphere in view.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

Cripples

Jose, a little Mexican boy, lost his eye one day in an accident. Given treatments and furnished with a glass eye, he now appears as a normal child.

A Fullerton grammar school girl had a deformed, twisted right leg. The limb was almost useless. Now she can walk, and with the continued use of brace and treatments, she will be restored to normal life.

These are but two brief paragraphs in a series of human interest stories which could fill a book. The work has been in progress since 1921, when the Crippled Children's Relief Association of Orange County first began operating.

The association attempts to help physically handicapped children of the county whose parents are financially unable to provide needed treatments. A staff of investigators works without pay for the association, seeking out needy crippled children.

Many a heart-breaking story is unfolded in the organization's files. But many inspiring stories of curing cripples and restoring them to normalcy are also found there.

A large percentage of the children have been cured, so as to have an opportunity to grow into active citizens.

Cases are handled, where possible, through the Orange county hospital, and, when necessary to secure special care, the child is taken elsewhere for treatment. The cases the association handles are those not cared for by the county of Orange.

The county schools department has a special corps of teachers employed to instruct handicapped children, either at their homes or at the hospital. These teachers aid the work by keeping the association informed of the progress of the patient.

Key point in the association's function is the eradication of the menace of a life-long handicap and the possibility of a child's taking his place with others, and enjoying to a degree an ordinary life of usefulness.

It's a non-profit organization, and care for crippled children under the age of 21, regardless of color, creed or nationality—provided their parents are unable to provide the treatment.

Much of the work is with infantile paralysis victims, and it was for this work that the association was first organized. It later expanded its service to include all types of needy crippled children.

Probably the most important piece of work has been supplying artificial limbs and braces. Some of these have been gifts. Others were purchased, and the recipients are paying back as they are able. (An artificial leg sometimes costs as high as $200.)

Bulk of the work is furnishing braces, and getting the children to a hospital for treatment. A hospital, as one investigator said, cannot go out and look for persons to treat—they have to be brought to the hospital before anything can be done for them.

There are 16 officers and directors. They each serve as investigators in their districts, work without pay. One director, who made it clear he wasn't complaining, said it sometimes costs him from $100 to $200 a year.

Here's some typical expenditures: Hospital bed and mattress, dental work, payments on two iron lungs recently purchased by two hospitals, repairs to a brace, glasses, glass eye, flowers for a Japanese child's funeral, transportation of a girl to the county hospital regularly for treatment, shoes, crutches, a Christmas party for handicapped children.

The association once helped secure parole of one of their earlier patients from the county jail. Another unusual case was the purchase of a wig for a beautiful high school girl who was completely bald; she suffered acute embarrassment until the association purchased a wig for her.

Several cases have been under the care of the association since its beginning. Illustration: A little El Modena boy whose leg was amputated because of infection was given an artificial limb, but new limbs are needed as he grows older.

Big majority of the children range in age from approximately 7 to 13 years of age, or thereabouts. Occasionally older cases are found and cared for.

Whenever a member of the association hears of a crippled child, he or she investigates the circumstances. In all cases the work is done without charge, although when the circumstances permit, the recipient is asked to pay back if and when he can.

Many write letters of thanks, vowing to pay back every cent as soon as they are able to do so.

Transportation of crippled children to hospitals for treatment is

On the way, bandits rob her, but a good-looking young man, who introduces himself only as "Martin," comes to her aid. Arriving in Los Angeles, she goes to her aunt's address, a high-class apartment hotel, only to learn that her aunt, too, is in straitened circumstances, and is more than willing to help her. Meanwhile, the operators of a phony dramatic "school" have seen a clipping from a Centerville newspaper telling of the death of her father, and they decide to use her as a star. Jeffery Garmes, representing the "school," phones her and arranges to see her.

CHAPTER XIII

LINDA dressed carefully for her interview with Jeffery Garmes and, as she dressed, she thought of all that he had said.

Of course, she told herself, it was really foolish for her to see him—without money, she couldn't take a course either in his school or any other. But could she perhaps scrape up some money? She might, for instance, sell her car, and there would be a few thousand dollars coming to her from her father eventually.

What Jeffery Garmes had said about needing sponsorship to get anywhere in Hollywood had impressed her. If a course in his school would give her an entrance to the studios, it would be well worth the effort to dig up the money to pay for it. And he had talked as though the rates would be moderate.

When she was ready, she went down to the lobby to wait for him. She saw that there was a different clerk at the desk—a younger man than Twigg—and she noticed the night clerk's air of insolent hauteur.

She went to the desk and said, "I am a niece of Mrs. Payson, the linen mistress, and I am staying with my aunt for a few days. My name is Linda Bailey, and I'm expecting a gentleman to call for me soon. I'll wait here in the lobby, and will appreciate your calling me when he asks for me."

"Certainly, Miss Bailey," Linda strolled away from the desk and seated herself in the same chair into which she had slumped last night, and from which she had been ousted by the night clerk's threat to call the police. Today, however, she was expensively clothed as any of the guests seated in the lobby, and was wholly at her ease.

She didn't have long to wait for Jeffery Garmes. She was sitting where she could watch the entrance, and somehow she knew him as soon as he stepped inside. He had a pleasant face, and wore a dark suit and a dark tie. Linda sat quietly and watched him approach the desk and ask the clerk a question. She rose when the clerk nodded toward her.

JEFFERY GARMES swiftly came to her and took her hand, his eyes surveying her with approval. "Well, well, Miss Bailey! This is indeed a pleasure. Centerville's loss is Hollywood's gain."

"Thank you, Mr. Garmes," Linda blushed slightly and withdrew her hand from his.

Damage estimated at more than $1000 resulted from a chicken ranch fire near First street and Verano road, west of Santa Ana, Wednesday afternoon.

Flames swept through a modern 30 by 60-foot barn, destroying the entire structure and killing more than 1000 baby chicks and between 60 and 100 pullets belonging to Luther M. Turner, Santa Ana radio store proprietor.

Origin of the fire was undetermined by the state forestry service of Orange and the Garden Grove fire department, which sent two trucks to the scene, but it was believed that straw in the building was ignited by sparks from an electric fan-catcher, or from a short in the wiring system.

Feed and tools in addition to the chicks, were destroyed by the blaze, which left only a concrete floor remaining in the wood structure. A house approximately 30 feet from the chicken barn was saved through the quick work of the Garden Grove fire department, which was on the scene shortly after a call at 3:35 p. m. Flames from the barn were spreading fast because of a wind blowing in the direction of the tenants' house.

A few portable coops near the chicken barn were destroyed, but most of the coops housing Turner's full-grown chickens were out of the danger zone.

The state forestry department answered another call at 10:20 a. m. yesterday, when an acre and a-half of grass burned at Ball road and Magnolia avenue, west of Anaheim. No damage was reported.

"Call me Jeff. And when you get right to the point in the movies, Miss Bailey, I hope you'll look back on this meeting and say to yourself, 'My how lucky it was for me that Jeff took the bit between his teeth and barged right in without being invited to be befriended.' Let's not waste time here—suppose we go straight to the office. Our director has an interesting proposition to make to you. My car is—er—out of order at present but, if you don't mind taking a street car—"

"I have my car in the garage here," Linda said. "We could take that if you don't mind driving it. I don't like driving in traffic."

Jeffery's eyes had brightened. Her own car! Business certainly was looking up!

As they drove to the office, he gave her a glowing sales talk. "All the major studios contact us regularly for particular types that they may require in current productions. We have a very carefully selected clientele of only the very best of the new talent pouring into Hollywood every day, and our recommendations are usually accepted by the producers."

As Linda listened to him, her hopes soared. He made it all sound so easy. She had envisioned a heart-breaking struggle to get even a hearing at the studios but, if she could believe what Jeffery was telling her, all she needed was the right entrée, which his school seemed to offer. By the time their drive was ended, she felt that she simply must get the money somehow, to take advantage of this opportunity.

JEFFERY parked the car half a block away from the office, and helped her out. He took her arm and guided her down the street. "Don't be alarmed by the appearance of our headquarters," he warned casually. "We make it a point not to go in for ostentatious display. We don't feel it necessary to put up a meaningless front. We keep our offices hidden off to avoid being pestered by scream hopefuls who know our reputation and beg to be sponsored by us."

"I quite understand," said Linda. "I know that outward appearances mean nothing."

Just then, she felt Jeffery's hand on her arm tighten convulsively. Following his gaze, she saw a girl standing in a doorway that was evidently an entrance to the school's office—a girl who was watching their approach with a queer, twisted smile on her lips.

Jeffery whispered quickly, "Don't pay any attention to a girl like that. She may say she'll probably try to make a scene. She's angry because she blames us for her lack of ability, which has held her back from screen success. We should have her arrested for libel for the things she has been saying about us, but we feel sorry for her."

They were close to the girl now. She was a platinum blonde, and looked a bit older than Linda. Her smile changed to a sneer as she planted herself in the middle of the doorway and confronted Jeff. Her hands on her hips.

"Another sucker for your phony school, eh, Jeff?"

James Roosevelt Insurance Fee Case Decided by Court; Rival Loses Fight for Cash

BOSTON. (AP)—In a legal battle over the commission on an $850,000 insurance policy in which James Roosevelt shared, a court-appointed auditor today found that a rival insurance broker was "not entitled to recover" in his suit against one of Boston's biggest banks.

Completing a five months' study of the evidence, Auditor F. Delano Putnam filed the final draft of his report in superior court.

He handed Arthur D. Cronin the initial setback in his attempt to obtain $31,750, plus interest, which he claimed was due him despite the action of the National Shawmut bank in giving the insurance policy to another insurance firm with which the President's eldest son was connected.

James Roosevelt recently replied in a magazine article to assertions that he had obtained large insurance accounts because of his prominence as a member of the nation's first family.

The auditor found that "one of the principal reasons" why the bank did not accept the insurance proposal offered by Cronin was the "close, personal friendship" of a vice-president of the bank "for James Roosevelt." Putnam emphasized the banker's decision to "see to it" that Roosevelt shared in the commission was "made" with no hope for expectation of favors to the defendant (Roosevelt's father having in 1933 become President of the United States) and with no thought of repaying Roosevelt and Sargent for past favors done by them for the defendant.

In reviewing the background of the case, Putnam reported that the President's son and John A. Sargent, both Harvard graduates, had formed an insurance partnership named Roosevelt and Sargent in 1931.

"Although Sargent was by far the able and more experienced man, and had built up a substantial insurance brokerage business," the auditor added, "Roosevelt's name was put first in the firm because his father was at that time governor of New York and the name of Roosevelt was much better known than that of Sargent and his (Roosevelt's) family connection was an important consideration."

F. D. R. RAPS AT POLICIES OF DICTATORS

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP)—Through the medium of Thanksgiving telegram, President Roosevelt was on record again today—at least by implication—in operation to policies of dictator nations.

Departing from an otherwise perfunctory address at a holiday dinner last night the chief executive read a telegram—one of greetings—from Eddie Cantor, the actor, as follows:

"May you and yours have a happy Thanksgiving. I am thankful I can live in a country where all leaders can sit down on Thanksgiving day and carve up a turkey instead of a map."

The message, the President remarked before reading it over to coast to coast chains, "gives me a thought we can all think over." The President spoke at the annual Founders' day banquet of the Warm Springs foundation for infantile paralysis. Mrs. Roosevelt sat beside him as he recounted to the 800 crippled patients and their families, and the foundation staff, progress of the health colony he established here a dozen years ago.

The address text given to correspondents had contained no hint of foreign affairs. It was not until Mr. Roosevelt reached an ante room to Georgia hall, where he spoke in the huge combination dining-assembly room that it became known he had decided to amplify his talk. He called a reporter over and tipped him off to watch closely at the close of his address.

The President referred to Cantor as "an old friend." The motion picture radio-entertainer has been a leader in raising funds for use in combating infantile paralysis by means of the annual Roosevelt birthday balls.

The President at conclusion of the dinner, interspersed with stunts by young patients in wheel chairs and rolling beds, made another brief talk in which he spoke of the "determination and courage" of those making comebacks from a disease he conquered years ago himself.

He said he hoped, after his 57th birthday next Jan. 30, to have permanent chapters of the national foundation for infantile paralysis set up in every country of the land.

Under a change in financial arrangements, he said, half of all funds raised in each country will be retained in trust for the chapters for local use, the other half going to the foundation for the national campaign of research.

Mrs. Barnett Free In Hatchet Case

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Charges against Anna Laura Barnett, government dispossessed widow, that she threw a hatchet and otherwise attempted to resist federal officers, were dismissed by U. S. Commissioner David B. Head today. Similar charges against Mrs. Barnett's daughter, Maxine Sturgis, also were dropped.

Mrs. Barnett's active resistance occurred a few weeks ago when she was evicted from the home of her late husband but the fabulously wealthy Indian Jackson Barnett.

SECRET GROUP IN SCHOOLS DISBANDED

ST. LOUIS. (AP)—Twenty young men and women, members of a St. Louis branch of the secret black-uniformed "C.C.C." which was organized to promote "a new social and economic order," have disbanded temporarily because their "commissar" and "assistant commissar" in Oklahoma City have been suspended from school.

The assistant commissar, Manfred Ishmael, 18-year-old high school sophomore of Oklahoma City, told the Post-Dispatch today by telephone he formed the St. Louis branch last year when he was here looking for a job as a grocery clerk, chauffeur or airplane pilot. He has a student pilot's license.

Ishmael said the "C.C.C." or curiosity club, had 125 members all in Oklahoma City, St. Louis, Los Angeles, New York and Youngstown, O.

The primary purpose of the organization was to study political science, Ishmael said. He denied it was in favor of a revolution but said it believed some communist form of government would be an improvement on the present one.

Members of the St. Louis group ranged in age from 17 to 25 and included high school and college students, a waitress, automobile mechanic, grocery clerk, delivery boy and soda fountain girl. They met in private homes or rented halls.

ELLIOTT AND HOLDEN NAME THEIR AIDES

(Continued from Page 9) Menton's office was appointed to higher position by Sheriff-elect Elliott. He will become chief criminal deputy sheriff, most important subordinate position in the sheriff's office, and will take over the post formerly held by Merle Dean, who last week quit after Sheriff Jackson had ordered a "raid" on an American Legion hijack.

BRUNS TAKES POST

Plummer W. Bruns, city councilman and police commissioner, will become undersheriff, Elliott announced. Bruns now is manager of the McFadden-Dal Hardware company, and has been mentioned often as possible candidate for chief of police in the city election next spring.

Sam Jernigan, former sheriff, who was defeated by Jackson eight years ago, will return to the office as chief of deputy, in charge of serving papers and other civil work of the sheriff's office.

Jailer Theo. Lacy, jr., will be the only holdover from the Jackson regime in a key job, and will remain.

Several of Jackson's present deputies probably will be retained by the new sheriff, it was indicated although Elliott said he had no announcement to make on the subject at this time.

7 MOTORISTS BEFORE COURT

Seven traffic violators were fined or jailed and one person was given a "floater" on a vagrancy charge in City Judge J. G. Mitchell's court Wednesday.

In lieu of paying a $10 fine for speeding, Herbert B. Thorpe, jr., Ocean Park, was committed in county jail. Celso Murrieta, 332 Adams street, paid a $5 fine for failure to make a boulevard stop.

James A. Humphries, Orange, was given a $10 work order on a speeding fine, while Mrs. Ida Brinkman paid $8 for speeding. Parking in a driveway and failure to appear on the charge cost M. Stackman, 505 South Main street, $3. Overtime parking cost Max Solomon, 1117 South Van Ness street, and Thelma Hall, $1 each.

James Monahan, 610 East Fourth street, was given a 10-day suspended sentence on a charge of vagrancy and soliciting alms.

GRYNSZPAN'S KIN ACCUSED

PARIS. (AP)—Abraham and Chana Grynszpan, uncle and aunt of young Herschel Grynszpan who fatally shot a German diplomat Nov. 7, were ordered today to face trial Nov. 29 on charges of harboring their nephew despite orders for his expulsion from France.

Court attaches he said that Grynszpan, whose killing of Ernest Vom Rath, German embassy secretary, caused a wave of anti-Jewish measures in Germany, also would stand trial for alleged violations of laws governing the stay of foreigners in France.

Attorneys for the youth, however, said the police court trial would concern only the uncle and aunt and not Grynszpan himself.

PROBATION GRANTED
Admitting he passed a $27.50 bad check on Elva Dore of Fullerton, Howard H. Fay, 38-year-old Los Angeles machinist, was granted two years' probation by Superior Judge James L. Allen today on condition he make restitution.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—High governmental officials and Latin American diplomats wished Secretary Hull goodspeed today as he left the capital by train for New York en route to the Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru.

Sumner Welles, who will be acting secretary of state in Hull's absence, and Secretary of Commerce Roger extended their good wishes to Hull and his party in the presidential room at the Union station.

Briggs, acting chief of the Latin-American division of the state department.

In New York Hull will meet other members of the United States delegation, including Alfred M. London.

The group will sail at 5 p. m. on the Grace liner Santa Clara. With them will be state department aides, secretaries and a number of Washington diplomats who will represent Latin American nations.

Before his departure from the capital, Hull has a long conference with Undersecretary Welles, a Latin American expert.

Their discussion revolved in part around the Lima conference and in part around the foreign problems likely to arise during the next few weeks.

One of these concerns relations with Germany, about which Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson of Berlin will report to President Roosevelt this week-end at Warm Springs, Ga. Wilson was due in New York late today, having been summoned home at the President's request.

Germany's economic advance in South America will receive indirect consideration at the Lima conference, which state department officials consider the most important meeting of the 21 Pan-American republics ever held.

The delegates will study their mutual military and political problems as well as economic matters. Although not formally on the agenda, President Roosevelt's recent proposal for reciprocal defense of the American republics is expected to be an important topic of inter-republic conversations.

Unwritten Law No Defense, Ruling

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Superior Judge John M. Wilson warned jurors in the Berry torture-kill case today that the unwritten law was no defense against commission of a crime.

His instruction dealt with Dr. Kent W. Berry, 50, who testified he abducted and beat Irving Baker, retired guard officer, last Aug. 19 because he believed Baker criminally assaulted Mrs. Berry, 27.

"You are instructed," the court said, "that no person has the right to take the law into his own hands and mete out punishment, either for real or fancied injury."

LOTTERY TRIAL DUE TO START IN L.A. TUESDAY

Trial of Police Chief Floyd Howard, his brother-in-law, Ernest Winbiger, and four others on charges of conspiracy to smuggle lottery tickets into the United States will begin Tuesday in Los Angeles federal court, it was reported here today.

The local men were indicted with several others by a federal grand jury more than a year after federal agents had seized tickets in what they said was a $500,000 spurious lottery based on the 1936 Christmas day handicap at Santa Anita race track.

Trial has been delayed many times, due to reported absence of a key government witness. The indictment was returned nearly a year ago, naming Howard and Winbiger with C. W. Hutchings and H. W. McKague, both Orange county residents.

A spirited legal battle was in sight as the government and defense prepared for a trial which may be lengthy. Deputy U. S. District Attorney Russell K. Lambeau is in charge of the prosecution, with S. E. Kaufman, former district attorney here, now practicing in Anaheim, representing Howard and Winbiger.

THE MOUNTAIN BOYS

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

By JOHN HIX

NORTH SHENSI ACADEMY--
Yenan, Shensi Province, China,
IS HOUSED IN 1000 CAVES!

UNDERGROUND UNIVERSITY
Grim cavern walls instead of ivy-clad halls are the order at North Shensi academy in Yenan, China. And Mother Earth is alma mater to students who pursue their studies in the 1000 caves of Shensi.

Headquarters of the Chinese Communist party, which formed a National Front with China's Central government troops to repel the Japanese invasion, Yenan is also the center of a political and military training system of high importance to China's future. A waiting list of 50,000 boys and girls from every province of China is reported at Yenan. Besides the North Shensi academy, the walled city contains the "Resist Japan" university, a military training school; an art academy, a school of dramatic art and a hospital. Eighty per cent of the graduates of the Resist Japan university become officers of the Eighth route army and go up to the front line of the Japanese conflict.

Many of the students at Yenan are girls, who dress like the men and live under the same conditions, studying and working in caves during the day and sleeping in cave dormitories at night.

The World's a Jungle

On Oct. 6 the United States complained to Tokyo that the Open Door in China was being systematically closed to its nationals, and protested against "unwarranted interference" with American rights in that area. Japan's reply, now at hand, is as thoroughly Japanese as a dish of sukiyaki.

"In the face of the new situation" (in China), the note concludes, "any attempt to apply to the conditions of today and tomorrow the inapplicable ideas and principles of the past, neither would contribute to the peace of East Asia nor solve the immediate issues."

Thus officially Japan propounds the breath-taking doctrine that treaties are worthless insofar as they bind the interested parties to a future course of action. In other words, the Nine-Power Treaty signed at Washington in 1922 has now lost its validity because of what has happened since—mostly, of course, at the hands of Nippon.

Nor is this merely our interpretation. "International treaties with declarations," elucidated the influential Tokyo daily, Asahi, "are nothing more than legalization of the international situation that prevailed at the time of their conclusion. The status quo is never permanent, but must be changed according to the lapse of time and prevailing circumstances."

Regardless, therefore, of what Japan solemnly promised China and the other powers in the past, she apparently has no intention of living up to those promises now. In 1922 she signed an agreement to respect China's territorial and administrative integrity and not to interfere with the Open Door and equality of opportunity for others. Nine years later, in 1931, she changed her mind and invaded Manchuria. Since that time she has steadily pressed the invasion. Coveting Chinese territory, trade and raw materials, she is simply taking them. To hell with treaties and signatures!

The idea itself is not exactly new in international relations. What is dazzlingly new, however, is that any civilized nation would have the gall officially to espouse it as a policy.

If Radio Is to Be Probed . . .

Today's Associated Press dispatches report that Senator White, Main Republican, wants to investigate radio.

He wants to know about chain control of stations, newspaper interests in radio, super-power permits and other weighty matters.

Sensor White, we believe, better could employ his time by investigating radio's lack of a sense of responsibility.

The nation-wide broadcast of the "attack from Mars" was a case in point. Millions were shocked by that sensation. The result was about the same as if newspapers over the nation had issued screaming extra editions and sent leather-lunged boys into every home neighborhood yelling, "United States attacked by men from Mars. Beware the death gas, which is killing thousands."

Newspapers, however, do not do that. They have developed a sense of responsibility to the public.

Sensor White might also find out about the phoney oil leases, the funny insurance policy schemes and the various medicines that can buy radio time, but which every self-respecting newspaper turns down.

Those who work in newspapers know the public's lack of confidence in radio broadcasts. When some particularly haywire statement is made on the radio, newspaper telephones ring steadily for hours. Radio listeners will not believe the radio until newspaper confirmation is obtained. And that situation is radio's own fault.

Good Appointments

Orange county officials are not elected on the basis of partisan affiliations. The system has its advantage in that elected officers are free from the "pay-off" expectancy.

It gives the official a wide range of selection, and inasmuch as there are no party handcuffs he can, with freedom, discretion and impartiality, make his choice, not only for the efficient conduct of his office, but for the best interests of the people whom he is expected to serve. Wise officials look both to the personnel and the ultimate purpose of a public servant, for the official never gets larger than the people who created the office and elected him to it.

In this connection The Journal wishes to felicitate Sheriff-elect Jesse Elliott and District Attorney-elect George Holden in the selections they have thus far announced for their official personnel. Most of the men selected have either had previous experience in the positions they are to fill, or professional contact which will readily serve them in their official capacities.

More Education Needed

The mighty Los Angeles Times, eventually getting smart, says it will not call the Southern California desert wind a "Santa Ana" any more.

Remaining ignorant, however, is the Los Angeles Herald-Express, which used the expression, "Santa Ana wind," in a page one head yesterday.

The desert wind is not a product of Santa Ana. It does not start here, nor stop here. It is general over a wide area and, if it must be named for a city, might as well be called a Riverside wind, or a Colton wind.

The ignorant refer to it as a "Santa Ana" because of a confusion over words. The real name of the wind is "santana," meaning "desert-devil" wind, coined by Spaniards generations ago.

Nation's Capitol

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

ST. PAUL, Minn. —(Special) There's nothing like a trip out and the country after election to strengthen your faith in American democracy. We become very heated up during election campaigns and our ears are deafened with shouts that if somebody isn't elected, or if somebody else is elected, it's the end of democracy, prosperity, and everything else. After election, calm settles over the scene. The transfers of power take place amid nothing more exciting than inaugural parades marching behind noisy brass bands.

I have been in two of the states where the turn over was sharpest. In Wisconsin, the La Follette progressive regime was turned out by the republicans. In Minnesota, the farmer-labor regime was turned out by the republicans. But both states are taking it in their stride. The La Follette are sitting tight, confident that the republicans will proceed to hang themselves. Here in Minnesota, the 31-year-old republican candidate for governor, Harold Stassen, was elected on a campaign which was quite progressive and not far from some of the farmer-labor ideas.

And the farm-labor crowd, now going out of control, is planning, at all things, to support republican Governor-elect Stassen in many of his campaign promises. The farmer-labor people in Minnesota say Stassen's talk sounds all right. Sounds liberal. Very well. They will call his bluff and will not only support his program but will actually introduce bills embodying some of his campaign pledges. They, explain, they'll see whether Stassen, the republican means business or whether he is a fake liberal. Of course the farmer-laborites figure that behind Stassen is a crowd of reactionary republicans preparing to take over. They figure that Stassen will either have to go along with the reactionaries in his party or else they will roll over him in the legislature and vote him down.

I sat at luncheon in Minneapolis with a small group of businessmen. Most, probably all of them, were republicans. I asked them what the election meant. They said that in Minnesota it meant largely a protest against labor racketeering and neglect of the farmers, so far as Minnesota is concerned, and nationally a protest against some of the methods of the Roosevelt administration. They said that it was not a vote of confidence in the republican party but a vote of protest against some things that have been done. But there was no crowing, no feeling that the country is going to the contrary, a feeling of responsibility, that the new crowd must make good.

All of which is related principally to show how America takes its elections, to show that underneath the campaign froth and sparring is a spirit of reasonableness and common sense and balance that is rediscovered with especial relief at this time when other parts of the world are caught in the grip of the most appalling mass hysteria.

It is almost as if in the universal reaction of horror at the brutal radical excesses in Germany a new resolve is being made by the American people to cling fast to the road of reason and tolerance.

Alfred P. Sloan of General Motors, who has become something of a symbol of conservatism, announces a new annual-wage plan, a most far-reaching precedent in enlightened industrialism.

Roosevelt appoints Landon, his republican opponent of 1936, to the American delegation to the Lima Pan-American conference. He also appoints the daughter of John L. Lewis. The wage-and-hour legislation, one of the most advanced measures of the New Deal, has gone into effect with little commotion. The business world has shown it can make a virtue of necessity, adjustments which the times call for without having to cry it out at the wailing wall.

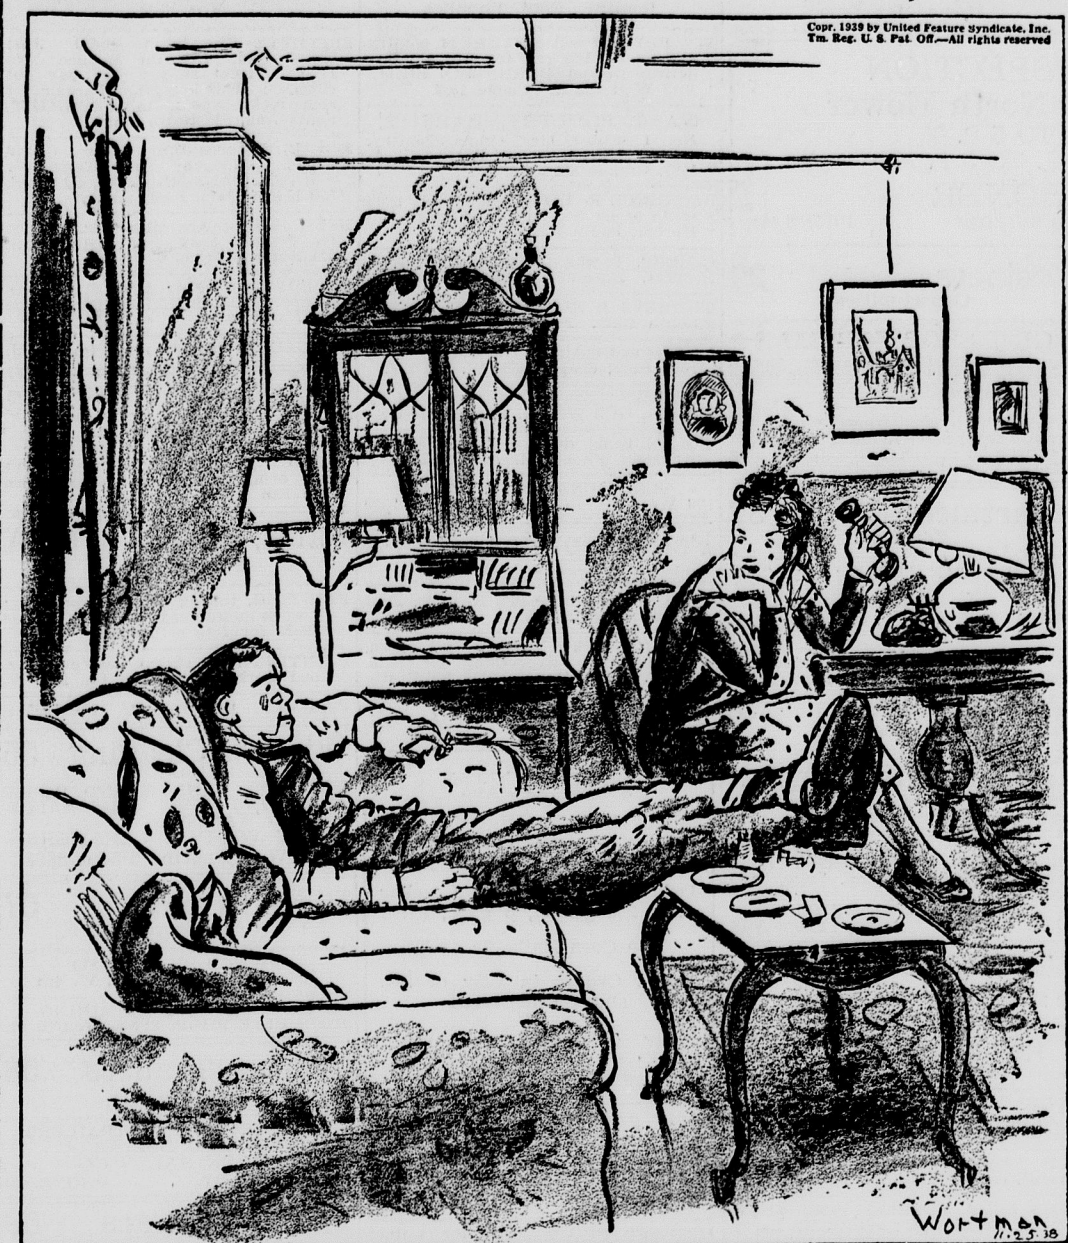

These and many more incidents of the last few days testify to tolerance and democracy in action. They show readjustments at work, and transfers of political power being quietly made.

And if you can see these things, in contrast with the medieval persecution and brutal intolerance in Europe, without feeling that the American way of life, with all its shortcomings, is not the most satisfactory method that mankind has found for living side by side, then God help you, because nothing else will.

BRIGHT MOMENTS

Nicholas I of Russia had been ailing for some time. He had an ailment to his back which required massaging. So, he wrote a letter to his friend, King Frederick William IV, of Prussia, asking for the loan of two corporals of the Prussian Guard, whom he hoped, would perform this massage. To the Prussian ruler he wrote: "I can always manage my Russians when I can look them in the face, but on my back and without eyes, I should not like them to come near me."

Rev. W. L. C. Sassen has definitely made up his mind to leave this city, and it is with regret by all that the fact was noted. His household goods will be disposed at public sale, it was announced.

With eggs retailing locally at five cents each and better, the report issued by the Department of Agriculture at Washington states that this high price is due to cold storage.

Tomorrow evening the Athletic club will stage its second smoker of the season. Several good athletes are on the program and a burring accident the evening's entertainment should be a winner.

Science News

By DR. FRANK THONE
Science Service Writer

Potatoes were not introduced to England by Sir Francis Drake or Sir Walter Raleigh or anybody else; they made the voyage in the four directions and were introduced into Virginia from England by way of Bermuda.

This upset of what has always been accepted as history comes from a new field museum publication, a posthumous work by the late Dr. Berthold Laufer, (The American Plant Migration. Part I; The Potato).

There is no authentic record of potatoes in North America prior to 1621, Dr. Laufer declares. In that year the Virginia colonists, in dire distress because of crop failure, received a quantity of potatoes in a relief ship sent by the governor of Bermuda. They saved enough for seed and cultivation was thus established.

Yet a quarter of a century before that, the famous English herbalist John Gerard, published an enthusiastic description of the potato, with a fairly accurate picture, stating that he had grown the plant in his own garden, from seed brought "from Virginia."

This statement has been partly responsible for the long-held belief that the Virginia colonists learned potato planting from the Indians.

The apparent discrepancy does not bother Dr. Laufer, who points out that mis-labeled seeds and specimens are frequently received by even the best-managed of modern museums, so "why get excited over a wrong label of the sixteenth century?"

If it was an English potato that came to Virginia, it apparently was an Irish potato that emigrated to New England, for the record contains a story of introduction by Scotch-Irish colonists in New Hampshire in 1719.

Potatoes were first carried to Europe by the Spaniards, after their conquest of Peru. They were little appreciated in Spain however, and it was not until they had become established in Italy that they had a really active center of cultivation, and a base from which they could make their way, usually against stiffly prejudiced opposition, into northern and western Europe.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—One little noticed problem the president faces in streamlining his cabinet may play a decisive part in the selection of too much representation from New York, the president's home state.

At present there are three New Yorkers in the cabinet, Jim Farley, Henry Morgenthau and Miss Perkins. And they are going to stay in the cabinet, despite the recurring rumors of their early departure. None has any intention of resigning, and Roosevelt does not contemplate asking them. If Miss Perkins should quit voluntarily he wouldn't try to stop her. Privately he might like to replace her, but he will make no move to do so forcibly.

From time to time Farley has talked about getting out because of strained personal finances. But the $75,000 he got recently for his political memoirs cleared the skies, and with his eye on 1940, Jim is sticking around. Morgenthau would leave only if Roosevelt asked him to leave. There is little likelihood of that ever happening.

Thus, with three New Yorkers already in the cabinet, the president must think twice before adding any more. And that puts him in a dilemma because the two lieutenants he is most anxious to elevate, Solicitor General Robert Jackson and Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins, have their political roots in New York, although born in Pennsylvania and Iowa, respectively.

Five out of ten cabinet members from one state is bad politics and no one knows it better than Roosevelt.

GEOGRAPHIC HITCH
Were it not for this factor, Jackson, young liberal, outstanding in four years with the justice department, would be as certain to step into Cummings' shoes as day follows night. But because of the geographic problem, it is quite possible that Roosevelt will decide to give the prize to Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, who went down in the recent election.

In ability and crusading fervor there is little difference between the two men. Also, like Jackson, Murphy is one of the president's band of left-wing intimates who have been trying to pry open a cabinet place for him for a long time.

Significant of the president's indecision is his silence. He hasn't said a word to either Jackson or Murphy about the attorney generalship.

HOPKINS PREFERRED
In a choice between Hopkins or Jackson going into the cabinet, Hopkins will get the preference.

The bond between the WPA boss and the president is very strong. Next to son Jimmy, the president is more warmly attached to Hopkins than to any other man. Because of this, when Commerce Secretary Dan Roper is finally pruned loose from the government payroll it's a good bet that despite the geographic handicap Hopkins will get the job.

It is also a very good bet that Roper will be out before the boys on Capitol Hill open their battering on the WPA. Roper's statement last week that he was not contemplating resignation should be taken with a grain of salt. He is on his way to a long overdue exit, and the chances are very good that he will make it before the first of the year.

PERSECUTION IN U. S.

To the Editor: The world is shocked; we Americans hold our hands in horror at what is reported to be going on in Germany today. And yet, if we look back just a few years, we will see that our own hands are not clean.

Did not we, as a means of inciting our citizens to warlike frenzy, create in their minds a fanatic hatred of the German people which still persists today and which is now being fanned into flame anew? Did we not persecute U. S. citizens of German birth and extraction? And after the war, when those atrocity stories were proven false, did we not smile and dismiss it with a wave of the hand as "necessary propaganda?" We did.

And did we not, as allies of England and France, subscribe to the inhuman "hunger blockade" of Germany, which was in effect for about six months after the war was over and during which time more than 800,000 innocent German children died of starvation? We did. The facts cannot be denied.

Intolerance? Inhumanity? Who shall cast the first stone?
FRED WILLIAM.

For Hosiery New Fiber

(Copyright, 1938, by Science Service)

WILMINGTON, Del. (Special) —First official announcement of the new synthetic fiber which will be a major rival for silk in the hosiery field is made here today by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours and company. It is made from a new material, "nylon."

The statement confirms the first announcement of the properties of the new fiber which was prepared by Science Service and published a month ago.

For half a year rumors of "fiber 66" traveled in chemical and textile circles but no official admission of the new fiber's existence was made, even though it is now disclosed—a pilot plant was in operation in Wilmington producing small quantities of the new fiber.

The new fiber is the work of many chemists, but patents for its production are in the name of the late Dr. W. H. Carothers, du Pont chemist. Basic Carothers patent is No. 2,130,948 with 56 broad claims which disclose eight specific ways of creating the fibers.

Chemically the nylon fibers are polyamides. Like natural silk they have a protein-like structure. Filaments finer than silk or rayon can be spun. The filaments have amazing elastic recovery and great strength. These properties, plus the ability of the fibers to take common dyes easily, forecast the chemists' goal of making sheer, two-thread hosiery with the wearing characteristics of the four-thread, service-weight variety.

But hosiery is not the only application of the new nylon fiber. Because its diameter can be controlled at will it can be produced for a variety of products like brush bristles, racket strings, fishing lines, woven dress goods, velvets, knitted and woven underwear. It can also be employed as a trampoline, wrapping film, for plastic composition, textile finishing agents and coated fabrics. Toothbrushes with the synthetic bristles are already on the market.

Construction of an $8,000,000 plant at Seaford, Del., for the production of the fiber will start in December, the du Pont company announces. Production from this plant will probably start in about a year.

I use'ta look upon college students as being pretty much alike, but since I got acquainted with 'em, I've found 'em about as different a bunch individually as I've ever seen. You can fill a big book jest tellin' how some of 'em got to go to college. Some are there because their Maw and Paw wanted to get 'em off their hands.

Some poor boys and girls have'ta work their ways through and one girl told me that she had'ta use strategy because her father was against college education. I asked her how she did it and she says "Well, that if he didn't send me to college, I would get married and I guess he thought he couldn't afford that!"

CARNEGIE'S Day-By-Day Philosophy

While on my vacation in Paris last summer, I visited Notre Dame cathedral, one of the oldest and most famous churches in the world—a cathedral hallowed by the traditions of almost 800 years. Closely following the aisle, I stepped on a magic carpet of imagination and was whirled back through the centuries. The cathedral responded to the echo of millions of feet which have trod reverently down the aisle in the ages that are no more. In my fancy, I saw walking down the aisle a man who had once been a poor boy—so poor that he lived in the unheated rooms and could hardly buy enough food to satisfy his hunger. At the artillery school, he had hardly been able to pass his examinations. But he really did very well by himself, for today he's marching down the aisle of the Cathedral of Notre Dame to be crowned emperor of all France. And his wife who is eight years older than he is, and who was born in a poor fishing village in the West Indies, is marching with him to be crowned empress. Their names, as you've already guessed, are Napoleon and Josephine.

And under the high and vaulted arches of Notre Dame I visualize the tragic Marie Antoinette marching down the aisle to the music of Te Deum celebrating the birth of her first son who years later was to be sent to the guillotine. I see another queen also marching down the aisle who, too, was destined to be beheaded. She is wearing the crown of the Queens of France now, but she'll go down in history as the tragic Mary, Queen of Scots.

As I sit here, musing in this Gothic cathedral of "towering stone," faint noises from the outside world impinge on my ears: the clatter of steel shod horses trotting over the cobblestones. Those horses will soon perish and so will their drivers; so will the hordes of tourists who are chatting gaily in the sunshine of 1938. Generations will come and generations will go, but this great cathedral will endure and men whose great, great, great grandfathers are still unborn, will come here to worship before this high altar.

There's a park in front of the cathedral decorated with a statue of some medieval hero probably returning from the crusades. There are broad stretches of grass, gay with colorful flower beds. Flocks of pigeons light on the grass to sun themselves, and to make love. To my astonishment I found in this park in front of the great cathedral beds of cultivated rhubarb. Back on a Missouri farm we called it "pie plant" and we grew it in the vegetable garden and mother transformed it into delicious pies. But none of us back in Missouri ever regarded it as ornamental plant. I must take off my hat to the humble rhubarb that's cultivated as a thing of beauty beside one of the greatest cathedrals ever built.
